SOPHOMORE SLACKERS.

With but three weeks left before Field Day, the Sophomores have yet to exhibit any trace of the ginger and enthusiasm which helped them win last year. If this slacking were on the part of the faculty, it could be attributed to their increasing and ignorance of the importance of this annual battle, but no such explanation would suit us. Now comes the word that all Sophomores who wish to enlist in the Advance Board will be excused from enrolling until after Field Day. Surely, this leaves the Sophomores rather far behind in their preparations. The only way left for them to hold their prestige in the eyes of the Institute is to send out a full quota of men to train for their teams. This action would be gratifying to those Technology men who look upon Field Day as an occasion which brings out, as no other, the good-natured spirit of class rivalry which goes so far towards unifying the spirit of the whole of Technology.

TECHNIQUE ELECTORAL METHODS.

There has been considerable dissatisfaction expressed during the past two or three years with the prevalent method of electing the Tech's governing body. Opponents of the system claim that the men were often chosen for their popularity and they did not always work as hard as they might if chosen by a competition run by a committee of upperclassmen in the Institute. The committee appointed by the Institute Committee always work as hard as their might if chosen by a competition of the second senior class. Now comes the word that the committee will be appointed by a the Institute Committee.

THE TECH, Monday, October 15, 1917

Why?

Because we have always b een able to give quality by manufacturing our own workrooms.

Because our prices are low for the kind of suits we build. That is due to low selling expense.

Our Wish

is that you will investigate before ordering your suit or ever.
