530 Men Hear About Show "Prove Goes To Paris"

The reference to the "Prove Goes To Paris" show suggests that the text is discussing an event related to the United States' involvement in World War I. The text discusses various aspects of the show, including the preparations and the impact it had on both the University and the community. The text also mentions the involvement of various organizations and individuals, such as the American University Union, the American University Association in Europe, and the Harvard University faculty. The text concludes with a reference to the "American University Union's 1917-1918" and a mention of a newspaper article by Countess Felix de Smet de Nicolaes, who was a prominent figure in the field of aviation during World War I.