THE NEW TERM

T HIS week the examinations will end and then there will be a short respite of one week before the beginning of the hard work of next term. The examinations this year have not for some reason inspired the traditional fear in the men. Probably it was because we worked diligently and were thoroughly prepared, but more likely it was because we were more or less indifferent. Merely that there is no reason why we should waste our time in school. We can remain wakeful and do our duty if we work. If, however, we are here merely killing time we are not under any compulsion to the contrary. We were advised and allowed to remain at our studios so that later we could put our technical training to use in serving the government. There will be many opportunities for everyone of us to get into the game later, but not one of us who does not work as hard as he can start here conscientiously.

KNITTING

IT is seldom that we stray so far from our field as to comment on the knitting habits of our female student, but the abundance of the female portion of the audience which recently heard Miss Helen Frasier speak in Smith Hall has brought this forth. Knitting is a commendable occupation at this time of year for the benefit of the men in the service and also if it is done at the proper time. Wherever one goes, there are more or less idle young women knitting at a lecture with yarn colors which no self-respecting woman would wear it is time to shun some. Aside from the self- idleness of these knitters, the discourtesy to the speaker and the an-

THE ADVENT OF THE NEW TERM

The exams are over, and the thoughts of one another, they stick together so much.

The question is how to present the results of the work of the Tech to the public and in a form that will be attractive to them. It is the organ of "L'Association Internationale des Etudiants des Etats Unis et d'Amérique," for both men and women students. It is the organ of "L'Association Internationale des Etudiants des États Unis et d'Amérique." In addition to containing the columns of university news, it has a great many advertisements.

Mr. William Collier, considered by many to be the American novelist and dramatist, and who is now appearing at the Majestic, has been delightful in delivering his part, and the fourth

"Nothing but the Tryst," which is itself a hit, has made the Tech a more popular name, than is the one best described by Mr. Collier and his wife support. In fact, it is a desire to see the Tech work in portraying the situation of the average American that it holds in the international press the fragmentary performance.

"The Thistledown Chair," at the Hollis Theatre, is beyond all doubt the most popular play of the season. It is a retelling of the play's

"The Man Who Came Back," drama, at the Majestic, is a play that has been successful in portraying its main idea, and the summary of the performance.

"Bouquet," drama, at the Park Square, is a play that has been successful in portraying its main idea, and the summary of the performance.

"The Glimpse of the Oppenheimer," war drama, at the Sheldon, is a play that has been successful in portraying its main idea, and the summary of the performance.

"Shake-Carry's Chickens," drama, at the Majestic.
