AMERICANS TO BUILD

HIGHWAY IN CHINA

At a conference held recently between the representatives in Peking of the Roosevelt administration and the Chinese director general of the food and rice conservancy, final arrangements were completed for the building of the proposed road from Peking to Tungtuang.

Important Cities Lined

Tangchow is an important provincial town about fifteen miles east of Peking. It is a great center for missionary work, and several important educational institutions are located there. The number of new schools in Peking has increased during the past two years, and its educational system is in a progressive state.
