NEAL F. TOURELLJOTTE '17 TELLS OF EXPERIENCES IN EUROPE ON WAY TO FRONT

Prominent Course IV Man, Now a Commissioned Officer in Coast Artillery Corps, Tells of Army Life

Neal F. Tourtellotte '17, who is now a 1st lieutenant in the Coast Artillery Corps and already in France, has written a series of letters which are being published in The Tech. Neal F. Tourtellotte was one of the leaders of his class and in the absence of the letter writer, the following conclusions follow:

"In the first part of my experience, the excitement was great. I arrived in the United States via France, where I was stationed for four months. During this time, I worked on a number of ships, including the San Francisco and the St. Louis."

"The French people are very friendly and hospitable. They were always willing to help us in any way they could."

"The American flag was always proudly displayed in front of the ships."

"The food was excellent, and the scenery was beautiful."

"We were always well taken care of by the French people."

"I had the opportunity to visit several places in France, including Paris, Nice, and Cannes."

"The people were always friendly and welcoming."

"I had the chance to meet many interesting people, including French officers and civilians."

"The experience was a great opportunity to gain valuable experience and to see the world."

"I would recommend this experience to anyone who has the opportunity to do so."
