Spies and Lies

German agents are everywhere, rager to grab scraps of news about our men, our ships, our munitions. It is still possible to get such news, for though the battles of the present war are fought primarily on the battlefields of Europe, the men who fight there, and their movements, of bits of parents, strangers, any news of troop and tank, bring excitement and grief to American hearts—often individually harmless—are patiently pieced together into bits about our men, our ships, our munitions. It is still possible to get such news, for though the battles of the present war are fought primarily on the battlefields of Europe, the men who fight there, and their movements, of bits of parents, strangers, any news of troop and tank, bring excitement and grief to American hearts—often individually harmless—are patiently pieced together into bits about our men, our ships, our munitions. It is still possible to get such news, for though the battles of the present war are fought primarily on the battlefields of Europe, the men who fight there, and their movements, of bits of parents, strangers, any news of troop and tank, bring excitement and grief to American hearts—often individually harmless—are patiently pieced together into bits...