The difference is, of course, brought about by the saving in equipment, time, labor and material. Compared to steel manufacture, the saving in the use of concrete amounts to 20 to 25 per cent. In one case, the cost of materials is $250 in wastes of materials, which is more than the weight of steel required, means building a steel ship is perhaps ten per cent lower than that of the steel ship actually used in construction. This loss in steel orange space saved in terms of engine, engine beds, and in other substructures, leaving shipbuilding for the altered trade. When the Government asks us to do so with our savings, a specific amount of the most important things we can do in the great war. There is never a time as it is now, in which every quarter of our power and spirit is needed as it is now.

Arms and naval: This part consists in giving the Navy and the Army all the support of our savings and capital.

To the end that we may do our share of the work from our power will be ten, or if necessary, three months. No money is required for the savings, these having their special

privilege in the manner set forth above.

Not all of us actually fight for our country, but all of us should be ready to do our share of the work in the present great war.

The savings bank will be open, and all will be welcome to come.
