The horrors of gas attacks are only beginning. Each year only a few of the total victims are discharged in time to enjoy the benefit of their home firesides. But this year the situation is so serious that we must act without delay. The federal government has been authorized to make the necessary arrangements. Every man who can give his services is being called upon. We have been informed that the situation is so urgent that the President is himself going to Washington. The enemy is using poison gas as a means of intimidation. This is a serious matter and we must act with dispatch. The federal government is doing everything possible to meet the situation.
