NEW AIR SERVICE DIRECTOR

The Chief of the Equipment Branch of the General Staff of the Army Air Force, who has adopted the army for his adopted home, is one of a pair of brothers, both of whom are pilots. The older brother, a wings, is in charge of the corps of aviation branches, with a little more than fifty years of service between them. The younger brother, a fighter pilot, is the pilot of the plane that tied for first place in the air race at the National Air Races. The two brothers are both pilots, and they both have flown in the army for many years. The older brother is the pilot of the plane that tied for first place in the air race at the National Air Races. The younger brother, a fighter pilot, is the pilot of the plane that tied for first place in the air race at the National Air Races.
