Published three times a week throughout the year by students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

THE TECH

Established 1868

Wednesday, August 28, 1918

Carole A. Clarke '21 ............. Night Editor

 staffing the wardrobe and what not, while we are going about praising the work of overseas command. At the time, Professor Peabody had just graduated a class in an intensive course in Naval Architecture, a.

The authorities at Washington recognize the necessity of college students complementing their education by forming the "Students Army Training Corps." The war is not over yet nor will it be for some time to come, and the men who have had the benefit of a college educa-

G. W. Howes '20 ....................... Managing Editor

Paul C. Leonard '17 ................... Chairman of the Board

Homer V. Howes '20 ....................... Advertising Manager

Bogus E. Smiley '19 ................... Circulation Manager

News Department-Night Editors, C. A. Clarke '21, E. Kurth '21; Editorial Staff, G. W. Howes '20.

Advertising Department-A. W. Hough '19.

OF THOSE RECEIVING DEGREES, THIRTEEN ARE FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, ONE OF THE Oldest in the United States. In the College of Arts, Literature, and Science, one hundred and seventy students will receive the degree of bachelor's, and twenty-two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering and Arts and Science, nine will receive the degree of bachelor's of the arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Business Administration, six will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Law, twelve will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Arts and Sciences, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Medicine, forty-two students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Education, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Agriculture and Applied Science, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Fine Arts, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA-The University of Virginia, one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States, has received nine degrees for the spring term. The university's three-year war service program is now in its final year, and the university expects to graduate approximately one hundred students in June.

Boston University-Early re-

of those receiving degrees, three are from the University of Virginia, one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. In the College of Arts, Literature, and Science, one hundred and seventy students will receive the degree of bachelor's, and twenty-two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering and Arts and Science, nine will receive the degree of bachelor's of the arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Business Administration, six will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Law, twelve will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Arts and Sciences, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Education, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Medicine, forty-two students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Fine Arts, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA—The University of Virginia, one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States, has received nine degrees for the spring term. The university's three-year war service program is now in its final year, and the university expects to graduate approximately one hundred students in June.

Boston University-Early re-

of those receiving degrees, three are from the University of Virginia, one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. In the College of Arts, Literature, and Science, one hundred and seventy students will receive the degree of bachelor's, and twenty-two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering and Arts and Science, nine will receive the degree of bachelor's of the arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Business Administration, six will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Law, twelve will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Arts and Sciences, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Education, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Medicine, forty-two students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Fine Arts, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA—The University of Virginia, one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States, has received nine degrees for the spring term. The university's three-year war service program is now in its final year, and the university expects to graduate approximately one hundred students in June.

Boston University-Early re-

of those receiving degrees, three are from the University of Virginia, one of the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. In the College of Arts, Literature, and Science, one hundred and seventy students will receive the degree of bachelor's, and twenty-two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering and Arts and Science, nine will receive the degree of bachelor's of the arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Business Administration, six will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Law, twelve will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Arts and Sciences, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Education, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Medicine, forty-two students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Fine Arts, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy. In the College of Engineering, thirty students will receive the degree of bachelor's of arts, and two for that of Doctor of Philosophy.