Wells of Company B especially for the occasion; and they will be published in next Wednesday's TECH, lack of space preventing their reproduction in the present issue. After Aker's song, which was one of the many hits of the evening, came Henry Dooley, and Freda Britton, in "O, Boy" and "Spinet Little Quitter Mine."

Mr. Bert F. Beaugard, first song leader of the North Atlantic Squadron from the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, then led the crowd in singing starting with the "Star Spangled Banner," and ending with the "Star Spangled Banner," and ending with the "Stein Song." Mr. Beaugard "popped" up the Technology students as they have never been "popped" up before, and their singing was the best ever heard at Technology. Mr. Beaugard said that the "Stein Song" was sung the best he had ever heard it.

After the singing, Angelina, radio, cheer, and ice cream were served to the enthusiastic crowd.

Signing was led by H. A. Hering, Scott Wells, and E. O'Hearn.

CAPT. BRAINARD'S STORY

a short time the man becomes hard-lined to this implement and comes in time, to take it as part of the game. The Captain said that never was so happy a man in a silent business. With a few more re- marks the talk came to an end, and the
