FRESHMAN TEAMS ARE PREPARED FOR HARD STRUGGLE WITH SOPHS

Baseball May Be Deciding Factor in Contest—Crew, Track, and Tug-o'-War Teams Are Confident of Success

CLASS SPIRIT RUNS HIGH OVER PROSPECT

THE various freshman teams entered in the Field Day events are confident as to the successful outcome of the different events. This confidence is shared by the managers and is reflected in the spirit of the class itself. Undoubtedly the freshman teams of this year have a great advantage over those of previous years, as Field Day comes at such a late date that the element of insufficient practice is eliminated and this tremendous advantage which the Sophomores have previously had is neutralized. Another factor which must be taken into consideration is that the freshman class is twice as big as that of the Sophomores and consequently the managers of the various events have a far greater wealth of material to draw from than their confederates in the Sophomore class. For these reasons the freshmen feel that their confidence is not misplaced in their teams.

Freshman Nine Fast

A new event makes its debut tomorrow, when baseball will be substituted for the usual football game. As this event tallies the highest in the final outcome, namely four points, both classes are eager to capture the game. In this event, the freshman class have showed their superiority and count on walking away with the game. A week ago, the 1922 nine lost to Andover after holding that crack team for eight innings. With the correcting of mistakes which the Andover game brought forth, the freshman nine is ready to meet the upper-classmen tomorrow. Under the guidance of Coach Nash, the Harvard baseball captain of last year, a very fast infield has been developed. In Captain Smith, Fitzgerald, Ramsey and Bray, the first year men have a crack twirling staff. Captain Smith's experience as moundsman for Worcester Academy last year and Fitzgerald's showing against Andover make these two men the most likely candidates for the job of whitewashing the Sophomores tomorrow. McGrady will be on the receiving end, Kerr in left, Lashure in center, and Myers in right, will patrol the outer gardens for the freshmen and these three men have already shown their ability. In an interview with Manager Walch last night he expressed his satisfaction with the progress of the team and said, "We have a tight, sturdy, and fighting team which has worked hard and won. On Friday, we are going to win again." Following the Field Day, the freshman nine is to meet Exeter Academy at Exeter, on Saturday. A hard struggle is expected.

The probable line-up is:
W. E. Clarke, 3b., D. K. Kerr 1.f., C. R. Meyer, r.f., K. M. Vreeland 1b., W. D. Lashure, c.f., T. H. Gill s.s., W. J. Towle 2b., C. McGrady c., H. R. Smith or T. Fitzgerald, p.

FIELD DAY IS RESULT OF A FATAL ACCIDENT

Death of a Former Technology Student in Old-time Cane Rush Causes Athletic Meet To Be Substituted

18TH ANNUAL EVENT TOMORROW

The coming of Field Day to Technology, just seventeen years ago, marked a new era in the history of the Institute. For the first time, clean, manly sport replaced a cane-rush that was little more than barbaric in its nature. As in all such changes, the events leading to the substitution of an athletic meet for the cane-rush were both sad and costly.

The last cane-rush between the freshman and Sophomore classes took place in 1900. At the end of the rush the count showed that the class of 1904 had won, but their toll was indeed heavy. The unconscious body of Hugh Chadwick Moore '04 was found wrapped around the cane, and although he was removed immediately, all efforts to revive him were unsuccessful. By his side was Harold W. Sherrill '04, who was carried from the field suffering from a hemorrhage of both eyes and enlargement of the heart from which he never fully recovered. The rush was no different from ones in the past for as usual, the freshmen had

SOPHS IN PRIME FOR FIELD DAY; AIM TO WIPE OUT FORMER DEFEAT

Close Score Certain, But Sophs Hope To Top '22—Experience Gained Last Year To Help—Last Chance To Put '21 on Cup

FORECAST OF EVENTS PROPHECIES WELL

THE Sophomores lost last year and have therefore tomorrow their last chance to get the numerals 1921 engraved on the Field Day cup. The question is, in the face of the overwhelming numbers of 1922, with the corresponding high amount of material, will the previous experience and the determination to win at least one Field Day be enough to carry the class through to victory. The 1921 relay team is very fast, having among its number some of the fastest men in the Institute. The prospects for a winning crew are of the best, in view of the fact that that organization has the advantage of both previous experience and good oarsmen.

The tug-o'-war has had experience and has enough heavy men in its line, who are sure to make the contest a hot three minutes for the freshmen. Baseball, which counts most is to be the deciding factor without doubt. The men play well together and had experience together last year. On the whole, the prospects for '21 are bright, and if things run according to calculations, there is no reason why her numerals should not grace the cup.

Although a comparatively new sport at the Institute, the 1921 baseball aggregation is making every preparation to vanquish their freshman rivals. Veteran material and daily practice has turned out a team of which the manager says: "Although 1922 is confident of victory it will have to submit to the upperclassmen in baseball. The freshmen may have had more practice, but they have not got the spirit of the defenders of 1921."

The line-up is as follows:

A. Povah, cf.; L. W. Conant, 1b.; E. J. MacDonald, lf.; E. F. O'Hearn, c.; R. W. Barker, ss.; E. F. Delaney, 2b.; A. J. Crowley, 3b.; A. E. Bachmann, rf.; T. Gresham, p.

Relay Team Confident

The 1921 Relay team is especially strong and expects to have little trouble in running away from the freshmen. Aside from the fast men that entered with the class, the team is further strengthened by several who were formerly members of the fast 1920 contingent that came close to the record. Downey and Anable are in this class, while the speed of such men as Bawden, Spitz, Scott and Junod is unquestioned. Manager W. Adams has the following to say for his team:

"No relay team in previous years could look forward to Field Day with the same
