FIELD DAY EVENTS

tions on Harvard bridge and at the finish in front of Walker Memorial. At 1.45 p. m. the two shells took their positions at the start, the 1922 eight drawing the outside of the course. With a strong breeze behind their shell the Sophomores jumped into the lead at the crack of the pistol. Captain Jakobson's powerful stroking soon gave open water between the two shells and 1921 managed to maintain the lead for the first third of a mile. As the crew approached the bridge, Bryden, the freshman stroke, quickened the pace and the freshmen drew up to within three feet of 1921's bow. As the eights shot under the bridge, the sophomore stroke seemed to be dragging a little and it became difficult to tell which crew was in the lead.

On the last quarter mile, a roar went up from the freshmen onlookers who noticed their crew gradually overtake the upperclassmen. When within three or four lengths from the finish, the lead of the crews seemed to alternate with their stroke. With a last final effort, the 1921 oarsmen succeeded in nosing their shell over the line, an eighth of a length ahead of 1922. The 1921 crew covered the course in five minutes, forty seconds. Mr. Haines the Harvard crew coach acted as referee and through the courtesy of Tufts, the freshman eight were accorded the privilege of using their shell.

PREVIOUS RELAY RECORDS BROKEN

The relay race was without doubt the center of interest in the field day events. The sophomores, who on paper were the favored team, came through in great style. Spitz, their anchor man finished fifty feet ahead of Poole, the freshman anchor man.

The first men off fought desperately for the lead, the freshman runner leading until the last 30 yards. Evans, the sophomore, coming up from behind handed the baton to Junod with a 10-yard lead. Brokaw the next freshman was unable to lesson his loss and Junod handed the stick to Seranton, the third soph to complete Seranton held his lead and Nock who followed him kept his distance safe enough. Scott, the next man on deck for the sophomores, got away to a pretty start and his long legs gave him a chance to increase the sophomore lead, while Anable and Bardes held their distance. The eighth man for the sophomores had Grover of the freshmen to contend with. Grover has been doing the distance in fairly good time up to now but on the last of his lap in the relay race he seemed to go to pieces entirely, enabling Hamburger to hand to Newton, the lanky soph, a lead which the latter took heed to increase with the aid of his slender form. Downey the tenth sophomore gained slightly on his man, and Bawden, the eleventh man got away to a pretty start which enabled him to assure Spitz, the anchor man, that the race need only be finished for the best time.

The line-up was as follows:
1921—1 L. Evans; 2 H. D. Junod; 3 C. W. Seranton; 4 H. K. Nock; 5 P. Scott; 6 O. L. Bardes; 7 A. Anable; 8 M. V. Hamburger; 9 C. A. Newton; 10 J. Downey; 11 G. Bawden; Anchor man, T. P. Spitz; Manager, W. Adams.
1922—1 R. Prescott; 2 C. E. Brokaw; 3 L. B. Laird; 4 C. D. Dippel; 5 E. P. Knight; 6 W. D. Gurney; 7 F. Howlett; 8 O. D. Grover; 9 R. L. Conrod; 10 F. Howlett; 11 A. S. King; Anchor man, J. W. Poole; Manager, H. D. Folinsbee.

Freshmen Pull Hardest

Tug-o-War was spectacular, in fact it was unique, for the rope pull was the only event which the freshmen won. Both pulls were close, and a maximum of interest was showed in each case. The first pull foretold the second well, for it was a freshman event, from the start. At the sound of the gun, 222 started in the opposite direction, from that in which '21 was headed and '21 went with them. There was no question about it, the second year men were gone when the heavier collection of freshmen got moving, for there was no stopping them. Both teams were stretched out almost flat, and for the forty-three and four fifth seconds which it lasted, they stayed that way.

When the time came for the second pull the day was almost over '21 refused to be budged. The rest had done them good, and they were determined to make a clean sweep of everything. A deadlock resulted, and for two minutes, eight and one-fifth seconds, a close pull was going on. When the second minute was not far away, '21 was stretched out farther than it had been before, and suddenly several of the men fell over, and the end started. The irresistible freshman pull was again working, and although it took longer than it had the first time to make the Sophomores give the necessary fifteen feet, they went in the end. Had not the men fallen, it was so close that they might have been there for the full three minutes without having the rope move more than a foot either way. But they did fall, and so the last event of the day went to '22.

In the case of both classes, substitutes were sent in for the second pull. The freshman line-up is as follows: Albert, Boyd, Hubbard, Howe, Shepherd, Noyes, Kurtz, Mahoney Dillon Stalbird, Clendenin, Thompson, Whiting, Morrow, Leland, Grady, Biddell, Spalding Connell, Conner, Pearson, Thimmel, James, Jones and Roberson who was counter. In the second pull Flather and Reigel took the places of Shepherd and Thompson, and the captain and manager for the team were Ferguson and Wyeth. The '21 captain was Morse, the manager, Knight, and the counter, Loesch. The team line-up: Bond, Norberg, Buckner, Grosby, Dateo, Wiegand, Hassold, Briggs Skinner, Levin, Ferdinand Jackson Kruse Lefevre, Fargo, Dean, Smith, Baldwin Hermann, White, Wylde, Vogel Haigh, Brimblecom, and Rogers as substitute in the second pull.

TURN TABLES IN BASEBALL

Timely wallops by Captain Ed O'Hearn and right-fielder Kerrigan and effective twirling by Gresham, late of the University of Virginia, spelled defeat for the freshmen in baseball and added four more points to the 1921 Field Day score. The count was 4-1, only five innings being played.

The fourth was the big session for the sophomores. They scored four runs ere the smoke had cleared and drove Captain Smith of the freshman team from the mound. Andy Crowley opened the inning with a neat single through the box. Conant pushed him along with a bunt which went for a hit when Larry beat out Smith's throw. Conant got in the way of the ball on this play and Crowley headed for third. Vreeland whipped across to catch Crowley, but his throw was too late, Conant making second.

With men on second and third, O'Hearn lined a beautiful double to left and two counters crossed the plate. The '21 cheers were increased to howls of joy when Kerrigan caught one of Smith's salutes on the nose and sent it over the fence in left field for a home run. This ended the scoring, although three men reached first after this and caused Smith's exit.

After the first inning, Gresham was invincible. The only hit the freshmen got was a scratchy affair. In the initial session he was in trouble when an error by Crowley, a base on balls and the only freshman hit of the game filled the bases, but he pulled out of the hole by fanning Towle for the third out. He had nine strikeouts in all.

The freshmen scored in the second frame. With one out McGrady walked and stole. He took third on a passed ball and counted as Delany threw out Smith. The freshmen held their lead until the fatal fourth, after which they never had a chance in the abbreviated game.

First Inning

Sophomores: Povah fanned. Crowley grounded out to Vreeland. Conant died on a bounder to second. Freshmen: Clarke fanned. Kerr reached when Crowley juggled his roller. He stole second. Vreeland walked. Gresham tightened and fanned Lashure. Subriana got the only hit made off the sophomore pitcher at this juncture. It was a liner which Gresham knocked down with his glove but could not get to first in time to nail the runner. The bases were loaded and it looked bad for 1921. Gresham came through in fine style, however, by striking out Towle.

Second Inning

Sophomores: O'Hearn opened with a ringing single over third. Smith tried to catch the sophomore captain off first and the result was bad, for Vreeland let the throw get by him and O'Hearn moved up. Big Ed was left stranded, however, as Kerrigan, McDonald, and Delaney breezed.

Freshmen: Gill struck out. McGrady walked out and stole on the first pitch. A passed ball sent him along to third. He scored when Delaney threw out Smith at first. Clarke fanned.

Third Inning

Sophomores: Gresham popped to Towle. Barker was safe when Towle's throw went wild. Testing out McGrady's arm proved bad business for Barker, for when that gent essayed a steal he was caught flat-footed. Povah walked and as though Barker's misfortune were not lesson enough, tried to pilfer second, but McGrady's good right arm prevailed, Towle making the put-out.

Freshmen: Kerr fled to McDonald in left. Vreeland got his second free pass. Fitzgerald batted for Lashure and put up a fly for Delaney. Subriana fanned.

Fourth Inning

Sophomores: Crowley singled. Conant beat out his intended sacrifice. Vreeland threw to catch Crowley going to third, but was too late and Conant took second. O'Hearn's double pushed Conant and Crowley across. Kerrigan increased the score two more by chasing O'Hearn in with fourply clout over the wire fence in the short left field. McDonald got the fifth successive hit off Smith, a double to left center which Fitzgerald played poorly. Delaney went out, Carke to Vreeland, Clarke making a good play on a slow bounder. McDonald moved up to third on this.
