WE HAVE WITH US:—

GEORGE B. ALLEN '22 makes a hit as the jovial Uncle Hiram, Prudence's husband. Allen has three of the best numbers, one of them being "Goodbye Manhattan." George claims that the part of making love comes easily, and there is no question that in spite of his whiskers, George makes himself interesting to the girls.

GEORGE J. HORN, Jr. '22, who plays the part of Mr. Wright, was once connected with the Brookline Amateurs and played in "The Man Who Stayed at Home" and several other plays. You see we have genius in our midst.

HAROLD A. ZAGER '21 (Mrs. Wright) makes Horn a most respectable wife. Zager has played minor parts on the grand opera stage, being the only member of the cast to have had such high aspiration.

JOHN A. PHILBRICK, Jr. '20, is a remarkably black negro when he is made up, and what seems even more significant the ease with which he takes to shooting dice is really remarkable. Altogether the effect is most realistic.

ALEXANDER D. HARVEY '21 has a New England accent that would never lead one to believe that he came from so highly civilized a place as Long Island. Harvey's stage name is Ethel-ynda; his part, that of a hired girl, which he takes most effectively.

And last but not least—the men responsible for the perpetration of Tech Show 1919—the co-authors.

JESSE STAM '19, noted for his success in the recent one-act tragedy entitled "Number please," is an old hand at the Show game, having written many of the well-known songs of former Stute productions.

JOHN G. LEE '21 the other genius and publicity manager of "A Doubtful Medium," hails from the Windy City, which fact as far as is known, has no bearing on his part in the Show, except as far as the foregoing article is concerned.—Editor.

HAWES '21 AND POWERS '22 TIE IN RIFLE CLUB MATCH

The match which was to decide the champion rifle shot of Technology was shot off at the fifty foot range in Walker Memorial Monday afternoon and resulted in a tie between Hawes '21 and Powers '22, each of whom made a score of 196. At no time during the match did any man have the championship cinched and it was not surprising that there was a tie in the end. A great deal of interest has been shown in this match and many rifle club fans will anxiously await the results of the final shoot which will be held next Monday afternoon. The winner will be presented with a loving cup now on exhibition at the Cooperative Society.

The complete scores for the match

Monday afternoon are as follows. M. C. Hawes 196, L. J. Powers 196, R. H. Skinner 195, J. R. Perkins Jr., 194, H. M. Noelke 194, G. G. Kearful 193, W. D. Morrison 193, D. MacLachlan 191, A. E. Alland 191, A. N. Brambach 187.
