be ordered, the seaplane to equip air planes with the Bell equipment and to proceed with the development work.
From this time the work consisted in attaining the simplest and lightest set for a convenient size of power plant to furnish the necessary energy, overcoming the noise made by the wireless plant, overcoming the restrictive interference in the wireless telephone net arising from the airplane ignition system, designing the two telephone transformers and the wireless telephone set, solving the practical problems of airplanes and other questions of innovation. The American will be
