WORK OF RATING "WOODEN" DOUBLE-ENTRY CAMPS COMPLETED
Technology Grills Will Soon Be in Pre-War Condition

The last of the work of rating double-entry camps and Novel Air Service hangars is almost completed. Two of the hangars are now ready for use, and a small version, as well as the Naval Training Camp and Naval Air Service hangars, which were then under construction, have been completed and placed in storage.

The hangars are of theiggal type, and are all 60 feet wide, 150 feet long, and 20 feet high. The hangars are made of wood, and the majority of the parts are prefabricated, the wings being made of wood and the fuselage of metal. The hangars are designed to hold 12 aircraft each, and are equipped with all necessary equipment for the maintenance and repair of the planes.

BUREAU HAS MANY VISITORS

In a recent letter from George C. Gillett, the head of the Bureau of the Budget, it was announced that the Bureau now has 100 visitors a week. According to Mr. Gillett, the Bureau is receiving an increasing number of visitors, and the number of visitors is expected to increase further in the near future.

The Bureau of the Budget is a government agency responsible for the preparation of the federal budget. It is the main fiscal planning body of the government, and its primary function is to prepare and present the federal budget for approval by Congress.
