DR. MOSS WILL SPEAK AT AERO CLUB SMOKER

Aeronautical Inventor Will Tell Story of Liberty Motor Supercharger—Moves and Lunard Lantern Slides to be Released for First Time

STUDENTS AND FACULTY INVITED

THE TECH

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1919

MANAGING BOARD

Count B. Capps '20 . General Manager
Edwin S. Ballard '20 . Editor-in-chief
Carole A. Clarke '21 . Managing Editor
Conrad Cannam '20 . Acting Circulation Manager
Almon L. Aouchs '19 . Treasurer
Raymond A. St. Laurent '21 . Advertising Manager

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1919

TECH NIGHT IS NEAR

The close of Field Day will be marked this year by the celebration of the victory and a great get-together of Tech men. It is exactly as its name describes—Tech Night, and the efforts of all are used to emphasize this fact. The tasks of tomorrow are readily forgotten, and there is a general get-together and festivity of the Institute. The significance of the show has been changed so that the play will be a succession of hits and take-offs—a real Technic festivity.

There is no other event in the year that resembles this one, none so prominent, none so significant and unforgettable, and no Tech man, no matter how long he has been one, can afford to miss it, with its emphasis of the spirit that underlies our Institute. It is one of the few times a year that the class or club courses are removed, and the common tie shown.

As the time of the writing, there are no tickets left. If you have forgotten or neglected to get yours, don't wait until there is nothing to do but sorry; "obey that impulse" and get them quick. It is the one occasion that must not be missed; it is the occasion that will be remembered longest.

JOIN A PROFESSIONAL SOCIETY

EVERY man at the Institute should be a member of a professional society. The three-fold benefits to be derived from the society of our classmates, our professors and practicing engineers of the outside world offer such fine opportunities that it seems a shame for any one to miss them, through procrastination that will...