NEW YORK PAPER PRAISES ALL UNCLAIMED ARTICLES AT NOVICE PAPER DRIVE

Although campaigns for fines are now being made by many of the leading universities and colleges of the country, some of those campaigns has furnished the daily newspapers with more ground for argument than Technology's Educational Improvement Fund Campaign. "The New York Sun" is the latest journal to praise Technology's novel plan.

In its issue of last Sunday "The Sun" predicts "far reaching effects on the education and industrial structure of the nation." It declares Technology's plan, which it describes as "an imaginative program," would supply a long-needed clearing in the country.

To such a plan the journal gives its approval by catering Matthew W. Brush, president of the American International Publishing Corporation, and a graduate of the Institute in the Class of 1901. "Not on the basis of charity, sympathy or philanthropy have the membership committee."
