"The Old House with The Young Spirit"

The latest from The Pavilion, across the street in the Tech Block, is that it will open its doors December 25. Originally the date was December 15. One of the first games will bring together Princeton and the University of Toronto on January 2. The following night the Harvard sextet will stack up against the same Canadian aggregation.

January 3 was the date Harvard wanted with Technology, but Manager Officer refused to play the Crimson before February 1. Officer has the right idea. Harvard will play the same game in the hockey schedule as she has with her football list, the early games being used merely as practice conflicts for the late season clashes with Yale and Princeton, and a defeat of the Crimson being cast aside by her supporters as an early season occurrence of no import.

"A Friend," writing in this paper Tuesday, has sounded the call for all undergraduates to help the hockey team to reach the top in intercollegiate ice circles this winter. Surely everyone who has had any experience whatever in the game will show up for hockey team practices.

The team has secured the services of a good coach and all he needs is the proper backing to put Technology across a winner. Charley Foote is a former Technology man himself and his hockey experience is a wide one. He is devoting some time this year to the formation of the Shoe Trades team and has gathered together a wonderful collection of stars, Raymie Skilton, Boston's great all-round athlete, who is one of the best cover-points in the game today, Red Synnot, former star, and others.

The playing surface at the Pavilion will be about one half as big as was the one at the old Arena on St. Botolph street. But the Arena was a mammoth place and to cut it in half leaves a good sized rink. The seating capacity of the Pavilion will be about 1,000.

The United States Naval Academy at Annapolis has organized a boxing team, but as this is the first year for the sport, the authorities have permitted them to schedule only one intercollegiate meeting and they will most likely arrange a series of bouts with the University of Pennsylvania.

At least one star of the first water will be missing from the list of entries for the B. A. A. games this winter. That is Bob Simpson the crack University of Missouri hurdler, holder of the world's record for the 120-yard high hurdles. He appeared in the B. A. A. games last year and was defeated by Earl Thompson of Dartmouth in the timber-topping event. The reason for his non-appearance this February is his acceptance of the position of track and field coach at his alma mater.

The B. A. A. meet this year will attract a galaxy of stars from all corners of the country. In view of the coming of the Olympic games next summer, all the crack athletes will be out in force for the indoor meets in the hopes of making a place on the team to represent this country in the big games.
