

LECTURERS PROMISE VARIETY OF TOPICS

Professional Societies Begin Their General Engineering Lecture Tomorrow — Invite All Students

TALKS WILL BE TECHNICAL

The north hall of Walker Memorial will be a classroom for Faculty and undergraduates alike Wednesday evening, when Mr. J. D. Andrews will give the first of a series of engineering lectures with which Technology is to be favored bi-weekly during this term.

The entire series of lectures is to deal primarily with specific engineering problems which are of special interest to technical men. Mr. Andrews' initial discussion will relate to ship construction and design, and will be the only one concerned directly with shipbuilding. The speaker has announced his intention to use illustrations taken from notes on his work at Hog Island, where he was the right hand man of Mr. M. C. Brush, who gave the general descriptive talk on the mammoth plant at the smoker of March 10.

Lectures Not Designed for Laymen

Wednesday's lecture, as well as those which are to follow, is not designed as an account of the remarkable engineering accomplishment and is not planned to appeal to laymen, but is to be devoted entirely to professional discussions of engineering subjects. They are to be open to all undergraduates and members of the Faculty, but members of the professional societies, which are in charge of the lectures, will be accommodated first. No admission will be charged.

Five Other Speakers Coming

Mr. J. D. Andrews is a graduate of Columbia University, and an engineer of wide experience. He will be followed, probably, on alternative Wednesday evenings, by five other speakers, whose subjects have not yet been announced. The committee of the professional societies which has the arrangements of the lectures in charge, has announced that should the attendance crowd the north hall of Walker Memorial, future lectures will be held in the main hall.

PUBLIC MUST LEARN MORE OF AIRPLANES

said that owing to the lack of interest shown in the "Bulletin", it would not appear this term. Then he introduced Mr. Denkinger, who is head of the Research Department of Army Aeronautics at the Institute.

Denkinger Announces Series of Talks
Mr. Denkinger said that his first talk would be on "Wind Tunnels," the second on "Wing Sections," the third on "Approximate Rules," and the fourth on "The Airplane as a Structure." Then he spoke on Aeronautical Engineering as a profession, and advised men thinking of that line to begin with the government service where possible.

Then Mr. MacGilvary began by stating that people in general almost invariably overestimate or underestimate the ability of the airplane. He remarked that many people seemed to consider it a sort of combination railroad, automobile, motor boat, and aircraft, and fail to realize that while it can not live up to such a big requirement, it has certain uses that nothing else has. Then he pointed out that the record breaking machines invariably have other features sacrificed to gain some particular end.

Congress Neglects Airplane Needs

He then stated that Congress has loaned huge sums to European countries and was thinking of loaning more. These countries, he pointed out, are using these funds to experiment in airplane design, but that Congress since the war has been unwilling to appropriate anything to subsidize the airplane industry in this country. Mr. MacGilvary ended by saying that the greatest problem at present in the airplane industry is now to educate the public to a true idea of the airplane.

After Mr. MacGilvary had finished the movies showing the history of the NC planes from the time they were planned to the return of Commander Read to the United States were run. When the movies were finished, refreshments consisting of ice-cream and pie were served.

PLAN TO COMPLETE YEARBOOKS IN TIME FOR TECHNIQUE RUSH

Roger Haywood; Assistant Art Editor, C. C. Carven; Assistant Art Editor, M. F. Farren; Associate Business Manager, E. P. Clark.

Something Different Promised

Technique 1921 will appear in a cover stamped in red, black, and gold. There will be a series of views of the Institute ranging from airplane photographs to interiors, none of which have appeared in any publication before. There will be a one-color system throughout, which will be quite different from anything that has appeared in former volumes.

Technique 1921 started in the fall with a complete board except for the position of Faculty Editor, which has been filled by Waldo Adams '21. The board remained complete until the end of the fall term, when one of the associate business managers resigned. Lately the board has been handicapped by sickness, but the printing is nearly done and the yearbook goes into the hand of the binders this week, so that it will be ready in ample time for the famous "rush."

BOYS LACK LEADERS

T. C. A. Calls for Social Service Volunteers

The T. C. A. announces a number of positions for boys' club leaders. The list is as follows: men wanted at the Elizabeth Peabody House to supervise athletic groups of boys, assistant scout leaders at Morgan Memorial, two to supervise baseball at the Riverside Neighborhood House, one for the Denison House where the boys are taking up woodcraft, six to coach boys' basketball teams at the Boston Y. ### SERIOUS LOSS OF BOOKS IN WALKER LIBRARY ENDANGERS ITS EXISTENCE students themselves will take some responsibility in the matter.

Mrs. King says that the loss has amounted to sixteen per cent in a year and a value of about $210, and although a number of books have been legitimately borrowed in connection with the English courses, this would account for only about twenty volumes. She points out the quiet and courteous manner in which most of the men use this library and the real awakening of literary interest that is has caused, but deprecates the carelessness or worse habit of a few that may make a continuation impossible.

$10,000 IN PRIZES OFFERED FOR PLATFORM SUGGESTIONS

Through the Republican National Convention, Mr. Truxtun Beale, former U. S. minister to Persia, offers cash prizes aggregating $10,000 for the best suggestions for the Republican platform, by voters under twenty-five years of age, both men and women.

MRS. COOLIDGE PATRONESS AT SPRING CONCERT DANCE

Dance Orders Ready at Musical Club's Office

The management of the Combined Musical Clubs announces that Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the Governor, has consented to act as one of the patronesses at the Spring Concert to be held at 8.15 o'clock on April 15 at the Hotel Somerset.

Dance orders are ready and may be secured at the office of the Combined Musical Clubs in 302 Walker. It has been decided to make the musical program somewhat shorter than is usual in order to leave more time for the dance that follows. Reisman's orchestra of ten pieces will furnish the dance and Mr. Reisman himself will lead his musicians.

Another concert has been arranged by the Clubs to be held on April 5. It will be given at the Lexington High School under the auspices of the Teachers' Club of Lexington and the management will notify the members concerning transportation at a later date.

The Best Stories Each Day in the Boston Evening Transcript

Leader of the Field in College and School Sports

Are you stylishly dressed? If anybody put that question to you, of course you'd say "Yes."

You select your own style; any question raised about its being good style is a reflection on your taste and good judgment.

And yet—there's more to style in clothes than simply what somebody thinks about it. The turn of a collar, the line of a shoulder, or sleeve, or lapel; the curve of the waist or the flare of a skirt; all these are elements of correct style.

When you look at the clothes you decide what style best suits you; the important thing is to look at the right clothes.

YOU'LL SEE HERE

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX

FINE CLOTHES

You may take our word for it until you do see them that they're the smartest styles in this city today; and they have the real quality back of the style.

The Franklin and Washington store has nothing but these clothes; we've had to add a lot of room to take care of the needs of our customers. At Boylston Street, we have these clothes and all the other things men and boys wear.
