COMMUNICATIONS

[Editor of THE TECH]

This communication is written in the hope of clarifying the positions of the various groups on the subject of student government at MIT. We realize that the momentum of student life, and particularly at this critical period, and before a student body and the administrators can begin to solve the problems of student government at MIT. It is our duty as students to make the best of the opportunities that the trustees and the administration give us. However, the decisions that are made in the student body must be made in the best interest of the students. Therefore, we are writing this communication to make the best use of the opportunities that we have been given.

SOME time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920

COUSe POLITIES CONDEMNED

STATE time ago a group of Senators in Course X, moved by a desire to arouse their dormant spirit, organized itself under the name of Class Day. This was the first step in the direction of student government at MIT. The senators were the first to realize the importance of organizing a student body to represent the interests of the students. They realized that the only way to achieve their objectives was to organize a student body, and they were the first to take the initiative in doing so.

Positions on the Class Day Committee are honored among the various classes of students. The Class Day Committee members are representatives of all classes of students, and they are elected by the students. They are the leaders of the student body, and they are responsible for the success of the student body.

We must heartily congratulate the Institute Committee for their efforts in organizing the student body. They have shown an eagerness to organize the student body and to make it more effective. They are doing a good job and they deserve our congratulations.

The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all. The students have been organized and membership is open to all.

In charge of this issue

Asbury Newman '22, John M. Kies '23

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920