Masculine Comfort Personified

WHEN good looks combine with comfort, a man's ideal is realized—and that is the story of the success of our knickerbocker suits for country wear, adaptable alike for motoring, tramping, golf and general outdoor wear. Other suggestions for the man who likes the open air are outing shirts, heavy stocks, golf hose, canvas fishing clothes, leather garments, trousers and breeches in woolen and canvas.

The Read Reindeer Blouse is still the favorite for golf, fishing and shooting.

A Distinction and a Difference

IN Scott's two or three-button business suits you at once realize they lack "breaking in." That easy, graceful fit that is soft and supple and lasts indefinitely. This must be so, for there is nothing carefully cheapened, nothing forgotten, nothing omitted in their development in our own shops.

ing exceptionally well in practice for a week before the meet, and I had figured that these two runners could cop first two places in the distance. Sanborn was making around 9.50, while Flanders was doing 9.55.

"But, as is so often the case, the dope went wrong again. Sanborn and Flanders failed to live up to the form they had shown, and the race was won by a Harvard man in the time of 10.1-5. Bill MacMahon sacrificed, and was anxious to sacrifice, his own chances for personal glory for the sake of the team. We did our best, but our calculations simply fell through."

That the advisory council indorsed Kanaly's actions was shown by a unanimous vote of entire confidence in his judgment, which the secretary of the council, Dr. Rowe, was directed to transmit to THE TECH.
