The Tech

The Tech wishes to take this opportunity to compliment the military science department for the efficient manner in which it has been conducted during the summer. The parade held Tuesday afternoon gave creditable evidence of the work done by the freshmen. We are sorry that those who oppose military training were not present to see what freshmen still has accomplished. We heartily approve of the cemeter system which stimulates the freshmen to keep a military appearance. The Sophomore lectures have covered various arms of the service, and with a few exceptions have proved interesting to the majority of the class.
