

TECH SHOW 1921 TO BANQUET AT LENOX

All Men Connected With This Year's Production Invited to Attend — Plans Are Being Kept a Secret

DATE SET FOR THURSDAY

The annual banquet of the Tech Show will be held Thursday evening at 5.45 o'clock in the Lenox Hotel. Every one who had a share in making this year's production a success will be invited and a list of the "eligibles" will be posted tomorrow.

One of the features of the evening will be a resume of the show music by an orchestra, which is a marked departure from former banquets when the authors had to present their own music.

The invited guests will include all the members of the management, cast, chorus and ballet; the author, the coaches, music and lyric writers, orchestra, poster and program designers, assigners of the scenery.

PRESIDENT NICHOLS PREPARES PROGRAM

century. Dr. Nichols is not superficial in anything. His basis is thoroughness, and he exacts from those under him the same. Judging from his past work, it may be expected that he will hold the scholastic standard at Technology as high, or higher, than it has ever been before.

A Thorough Scientist

Dr. Nichols differentiates between pure and applied science, saying, "Pure science unearths a new fact. Then applied science puts it to use. About a dozen people today understand the Einstein theory of relativity, but it's not outside the realm of possibility that some day all of us will be using devices growing out of it." Dr. Nichols' character is unusual. He is wrapped up in his work, but not to the extent of neglecting his personal appearance. He is not an athlete nor has he any personal interest in athletics but loves the outdoors, and frequently takes long tramps in the woods. However, he recognizes fully the value of college athletics, and is strongly in favor of their promotion.

President Nichols is a believer in having technical education open to women, but does not think that the majority of women should go into scientific work. "We look to women for a certain set of mental qualities and for a certain outlook different from those of men," he says, adding that the place for women in science should rather be held for the exceptional research worker that occasionally develops.

erly appointed. The committee now stands as follows, from the latest report:

W. R. Barker, Technology, General Chairman; J. C. Talmosse, U. or Penn. In Charge of Discussion on Student Gov.; T. C. McEachin, Princeton, Discussion on Publications; D. B. Strickler, Cornell, Discussion on Athletics; S. B. Gorham, Dartmouth, Discussion on Musical Clubs.

This Committee is expected to meet in Boston on Thursday, April 14, and the final plans and program for the Conference will be settled in a meeting with the Technology Committee. W. R. Barker announces. The program will be published as a pamphlet or posted on blackboards so that there will be no confusion in regard to the various phases of the Conference. The Executive Committee will act as chairman for the meetings and will have the power of limiting the discussion so that the most important questions may be considered.

COLLEGIATE LIBERAL CLUB ORGANIZED HERE

146 Representatives Gathered At Harvard Elect Officers And Draw Up Constitution — Technology Represented.

AIM IS TO PRESENT FACTS

Technology was represented by 20 men at the first session of the Inter-collegiate Liberal Conference in Harvard Union Saturday afternoon. One hundred and forty-six delegates, representing 46 colleges were present. There were delegates representing the University of Washington and from Cambridge, England. Chester C. Taylor, '23, was elected by the delegates from Technology to represent the Institute on the permanent executive committee.

The session was opened by a word of welcome by Dean Briggs of Harvard, who gave a definition of a liberal. There followed an address by Walter Lippman, of the New Republic, who gave himself to a consideration of the activities of a liberal. Committees were then elected for the discussion of Ways and Means, Name and Purpose, and for discussion of a constitution. Each college having any men present was allowed a man on each of these committees.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB WILL BE CONSIDERED THURSDAY

Mass Meeting Will be Addressed by Prominent Oriental

The formation of an International Club will be considered at a mass meeting to be held in room 10-250 next Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The meeting will be addressed by Sukesaka Sawamura '23, a student who has recently attracted considerable attention as a speaker and writer. Membership in the new club is open to all Technology students of every nationality.

The plan is to give the club a good start by making the membership this year free; next year the club is to start with an active and original program. According to Sawamura, it is not sufficient that a club merely exist, but it must do something to justify its existence; therefore he proposes that this new club get together, organize, and develop a definite course of action. He feels able to give a very interesting address.

EDDY LECTURING AT AMERICAN COLLEGES

meetings, the attendance grew from 1500 to 2700.

During the month of February, Eddy lectured at the University of Mississippi, of Colorado, Texas, Oklahoma, Ohio Wesleyan, Kansas, Northwestern and Iowa State. At Iowa State, an average of over 4000 attendance per day was maintained for three days.

During the week of March 7, Eddy was at Lafayette, where not only the student body of that college welcomed him, but many men attended from neighboring colleges. During the remainder of the month of March, he spoke at the University of Wisconsin, at Bucknell, Penn State, Columbia and Yale. At Yale, Sherwood Eddy was able to spend only one day, due to the extreme demand on his time.

At Columbia, Sherwood Eddy has done very recent work. Four large open meetings were conducted and many personal interviews with the prominent men of the campus, so that many of Eddy's ideas were able to be applied to the student problems at Columbia.

Last Thursday, Eddy lectured at Rutgers, Saturday at Hamilton, yesterday at Colgate, and tomorrow and Thursday he will be at Syracuse. Then next Tuesday he will come to the Institute.
