OWNS CONSIDERING ENROLLMENT LIMIT

(From the Daily Record)

The present time of the year is an excellent opportunity to consider the question of the enrollment limit at Brown University. The number of students in the graduating class is now 1,019, and it is expected that the number will increase to 1,200 by the time of graduation.

The limit of 1,200 is set by the regulations of the University, and is based on the following considerations:

1. The physical capacity of the campus and buildings.
2. The educational needs of the students.
3. The economic and financial resources of the University.

If the enrollment limit is exceeded, the quality of education can be affected, and the educational opportunities of the students can be diminished.

The question of the enrollment limit is of great importance, and it is hoped that the authorities of the University will take it seriously into consideration.
