foundry, pattern-making, machine work, heat treatment, and all the other processes that are involved in modern Ordnance work.
Are All College Graduates
There will be from 20 to 30 men entering the course every year. These men are all graduates of Colleges, or of West Point. The courses they take here are not the same as those of the same names, now taken by the undergraduates, but are advanced courses. These men have had the preliminary work, and these courses are designed to give them a chance for thorough assimilation of the principles involved. They must not only be familiar with the principles, but be able to apply them quickly and surely. That is the reason why the first two years of an officer's time in the Ordnance is taken up with this preparatory work.
Accuracy The Need
Many of the machines in the Ordnance must be very light and carriages must be designed to weigh as little as possible. Often-times a factor of safety of one and three-quarters or two is all that is allowed, and under these conditions the designer has to be sure of getting in all the stresses and getting them correct. The course in Ordnance is designed to give the men such a thorough training that they can work under these conditions and not make costly mistakes.
Leads to Master's Degree.
After completion of the course the men will go into the regular work of the Ordnance for a period of from three to five years, at which time they will be given an opportunity to again come to the Institute to specialize in such subjects as they have found that they need. There are now six such advanced officers at the Institute. Two are studying powder and explosives, three are specializing in mechanical engineering subjects, and one is specializing in gas engines. Upon completion of this part of the course the Master's degree is given.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB OPEN TO MEMBERS OF ALL CLASSES
Registration Book In Main Lobby This Week
Officers in the International Club do not necessarily need to be upperclassmen. A member of any class may be an officer in the club. This is because the crowd does not deal with the school business. The purpose of the club is the intellectual training of personal association, which is not in any course in the Institute. A student in a lower class may be superior in this respect to students in the upper classes. Therefore the club purposes to take advantage of any talent which may be in the club by opening the lists to any member, regardless of his class. In this way the club will further the interests of the club to a greater extent than by any other means.
Just as the efficiency of a machine is measured by the output over the input, so the efficiency of the organization is measured by the number of members at the meeting divided by the number in the register.
The registration book is left in the Main Lobby, so that all men who may care to may join, but also so that none will feel forced to register because they do not attend the meetings. In that way Mr. Sawamura feels that many may come who might otherwise be turned away. He says that he may be disappointed by the number who register but never discouraged.
Today and all week the registration book will be left in the Main Lobby so that all who care to may join. The week following a meeting will be held at which officers will be elected from among the members.
The resolution of the club and the general program will be posted on the blackboard along with the registration book.

Professional Societies
MINING SOCIETY MEETS
Prof. W. Lindgren, Head of the Department of Geology, Mining and Metallurgy and one of the leading mining experts of the country has been secured by the Mining Society to address them at a meeting tonight in North Hall, Walker. Plans for the final meeting of the year, which will probably be held on May 14 in the form of a big smoker, will be discussed at this time also. An interesting session is promised and everyone interested in the work of this department is invited to attend.

CHEMICALS SIGN FOR TRIP
About 70 members of the Chemical Society have already signed up for the Providence trip on Friday, April 22. The trip is an all-day one, the plans being to visit the Providence Gas Co. and the immense Standard Oil refinery in East Providence.

CIVILS HOLD ELECTIONS
The annual elections of the Civil Engineering Society will be held Apr. 20, from 9 to 5 o'clock at the entrance to building 1 near room 1-100. The president, vice-president, treasurer, secretary and two members to the executive committee, assistant treasurer and assistant secretary, and one member to the executive committee will be elected from the Class of 1922.

The membership blank of the club is as follows:
Free Membership This Year
Sign your name and nationality, not only literally and quantitatively, but significantly and qualitatively, for the purpose of the International Club of M. I. T. is to supplement the League of Nations.
Is the League of Nations a trouble-maker, a peace-maker, or a piece maker? Which is it going to be?
The League of Nations will be a trouble-maker when misused with mutual misunderstandings. The League of Nations with the U. S. will be a peace-maker. The League of Nations without the U. S. will be a piece-maker. The fate of the League of Nations will wholly depend upon these three deciding factors.
(Signed) Sukesaku Sawamura.
