Professor Blanchard's lectures on the atomic theory are continued next week in the Institute of Science. It has been shown that a considerable number of scientists are interested in the subject except their thirst for knowledge. Some conferences have been held on the subject, and many discuss them. The lectures will be open to the public.

The Institute of Architecture and Design is offering a course in Russian architecture. For the past few months, Mr. John Ruskin, a member of the American Y's mission to Europe, has been studying and researching in the field of Russian architecture. The lectures will continue throughout the year.

The students of the Syracuse University are planning a trip to Japan. Since his graduation, he has been working in Japan. He is a member of the American Institute of Architects and has been working on several projects in Japan. The trip to Japan is one of his main objectives.

The lecture by Mr. John Ruskin will be an introduction to the study of Russian architecture. The lectures will be open to the public and will be held in the Institute of Science. The lectures will cover the history of Russian architecture, its development, and its influence on modern architecture.
