The gymnasium in Walker is always open for the man who wants to train. Theodore Roosevelt was one of the first students to use the gymnasium. The main reason for this was his desire to improve his muscularity and endurance. Once he had mastered the basic exercises, he went on to more advanced work. The gymnasium has been a valuable asset to the College, providing a place for students to improve their physical condition and stay in shape.

Present conditions show that this is enough to look after his physique. Constant exercise is necessary to maintain the gains made in the gymnasium. Once a student has reached a satisfactory level of fitness, he should continue to work on it to keep it up. The gymnasium in Walker is always open, and it is a good idea for students to use it regularly.

The work and the lack of sleep make it very difficult for students to maintain the labor cost in remodelling and replacing it for every inch of new wood floor, which would be absolutely necessary. The strength of the old floor, worn away by many years, would be much reduced. It would be better to have a new floor made than to try to repair the old one. The gymnasium in Walker Memorial is always open, and it is a good idea for students to use it regularly.

It is the Lounger's candid opinion that the present T. E. N. will influence the coming Freshman Soccer Candidates for the rest of the season. The Roost is the place to be seen, and the T. E. N. is the place to be met.

There is a suitable hall in Walker for such concerts. One entertainment by the clubs each term would offer a most welcome addition to undergraduate life. Why not make "Musical Clubs" mean something more than a song on a door in Walker?

WITNESS: "The Woman in Black." A very cordial invitation which Margaret Anglia takes the liberty of extending to all friends and relatives more than her customary stall.

Gentlemen of the student body and friends of the College: The recent T. E. N. trial influence is one of the most important events of the year. It is destined to affect the future of the College, and it is a matter of great concern to all who are interested in its welfare.

There are three occupations that are of importance to the undergraduate—studies, extra-curricular activities, and food. The dividing line between the last two is of what will give him the most interest, pleasure, or profit. If he chooses the latter, he will devote his spare time to light literary work, the movies, and poker. If he chooses the former, he will be self-satisfied and work at the science.

The student body, generation, obviously, has no superfluous time. One of the reasons of it is that he can do no more than he can, and the other reason is that he can do no less than he must do. The common denominator of all activities is that he must do them.

The first occupation can be done with ease, and the second is a little more difficult, but the third is the most important. The first occupation can be done with ease, and the second is a little more difficult, but the third is the most important.
