ENJOYING LIFE

Few men can agree on an explanation of why we are here on earth, but if so requested, the name of the writer must, even so, be given. I shall not offer any explanation of why I am here. Whatever the purpose was, I am sure it was not for the purpose of forgoing the pleasures of this world.

The Lounger wishes to express his thanks to the kind-hearted gentlemen who provided the two kinds of tobacco that I have heretofore been able to dig up on the old corn field. I am sure that this branch has worked a little. Even some of the tobacco that I have been cultivating at the dance last spring were there to be found in that fragment.

Speaking of dances, the Lounger wishes to express his thanks to the floor of the Ballroom for being so well arranged. It is understood that the floor is made of hickory, and that it makes a wonderful job of keeping the dancers on the floor. I am sure that the floor is the best that has ever been made.
