THE TECH

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor of THE TECH:

A recent issue of VCH TECH stated that the Tech had to be collected. The cost of the Tech is $2.00, and the price of a seat in the Harvard crew is about $5.00. It is not surprising to hear that many Tech men are in favor of the Tech, for the purpose of supporting the Tech. The Tech is a necessity to the Harvard team. However, last winter the Tech committee, which was composed of basketball, hockey, and tennis players, considered the Tech a farce. Future Harvard teams will probably pay more for the money they saved.

The purpose of seeing Harvard is that some college at football, is to have a larger audience. The Tech is a fine newspaper, and I think that even a spectator who is not familiar with the Harvard team will find it interesting.

Spectators who are not interested in Harvard are recommended to read the Tech.

To the Editor of THE TECH:

In behalf of scores of men who have worked hard to support the Tech, I have written this appeal. I am an active member of the Tech, and I have contributed to its support. However, I feel that the Tech is not being utilized to its fullest extent.

The Tech is written by students who are interested in the Harvard team. The Tech is a valuable source of information to spectators who are not familiar with the Harvard team.

I am an active member of the Tech, and I have contributed to its support. However, I feel that the Tech is not being utilized to its fullest extent.

I am an active member of the Tech, and I have contributed to its support. However, I feel that the Tech is not being utilized to its fullest extent.