

TECH SHOW ANNOUNCES ITS 1922 PRODUCTION

well known in Boston theatrical circles. In addition to his professional work, Mr. Weston has many noteworthy amateur shows to his credit. Last year's Hasty Pudding Show, "Westward Ho!" "The Mikado," given by the Clarendon Club of Somerville and the performances of "H. M. S. Pinafore" given for the Belmont Hospital Aid, are all fine testimonials to his versatile ability. Tech Show is indeed fortunate to have the services of such an able coach.

Again this year, Miss Virginia Tanner is to have charge of the Chorus and Ballet. The truly remarkable Ballets which have been a feature of previous Tech Shows have been the product of Miss Tanner's dexterity and skill.

Those who were in the Orchestra that played the "Patsy" performance know Mr. Crowley, who is to conduct the Orchestra this year. His work in this capacity in former years has been of the best, and with the numerous concerts to be given before the actual Show work starts, the Orchestra will be in exceptional form for the Show season.

START MUSIC AND LYRIC COMPETITION AT SMOKER

Tech Show 1922 held its first smoker last evening at 8 o'clock in the East Lounge of Walker Memorial. It was a real success from every standpoint and from the number of men present, a goodly contribution of songs will undoubtedly be forthcoming.

The purpose of the management in calling together all men interested in the music and lyric competition was to outline the plot of the play and give them an idea of the different types of musical numbers wanted.

Eric F. Hodgins '22, the successful author of this year's show presented a synopsis of "The Sacred Cow" and gave a list of suggested song titles to go with it.

As Tech Show is primarily of a musical nature, a large number of songs of different types are needed in the production.

Several writers of music and lyrics of former Tech Shows were present as well as members of the casts of previous shows, who repeated their skits, parts and specialties and gave valuable suggestions as to the manner of making up lyrics and composing music. It was pointed out that finished pieces were not demanded but that simple melodies would be gladly received, which the committee would elaborate, the originator receiving the credit for the number. Those men whose musical numbers are used, will be taken on the Show trips.

The management expresses the hope that anyone who is able to set up a few lines of verse will contribute something to this year's show. Those who are interested in this department of the show but were unable to attend the smoker can get information concerning this competition any day after 5 o'clock in the Show office, 301 Walker Memorial.

ARCHITECTS AWARDED PRIZES

Two prizes have been awarded in the Department of Architecture of the Institute for work done by the students in the summer, the first of $25 going to H. R. Miggs, and the second, of $5 to J. A. Frank '23. These prizes have been instituted to encourage the development of proficiency both in water color and pencil, and the competitors submitted specimens of work in both mediums. The awards were made on the basis of artistic appreciation and technical skill and the judges were two men from the department of drawing and two from the department of design. The results of the summer's work are on display in the exhibition room of the Rogers Building.

COAST ARTILLERY SENIORS TAKE INTERESTING TRIP

The last group of the senior R. O. T. C. Coast Artillery Unit took the trip to the Watertown Arsenal under the guidance of Major Ottosen, of the Military Science Department, starting from the main lobby at 3:00 o'clock, last Monday.

The first gun inspected was the 16" howitzer which was being dismantled prior to being sent to the Aberdeen testing ground. This gun is a mammoth affair on a stationary foundation. The main parts of this gun are the base-ring which rests on the foundation, the rollers which are placed between the base-ring and the racer, the side frames which rest on the racer, the cradle of the gun which rests on the racer, and the gun itself which rests in the cradle. This gun is equipped with two Waterbury speed gears which regulate its traversing and elevating, which are so regulated as to enable them to be replaced by hand power. This gun was operated by the men who took the trip who were surprised at the ease with which it could be handled. When properly balanced this gun can be moved by a pressure of six pounds, and can be elevated to 70° in 15 seconds by hand.

Bursar Very Busy Chasing $5 Fines

Horace S. Ford, bursar, states that he is now engaged in a new form of athletics, which is, he says, a cross between cross-country and hare-and-hound chase. In short, he is now occupied in collecting the innumerable $5 fines which are due because of late registration.

JUNOD HEADS 1921 RED CROSS ROLL CALL

During the fourth year he was Secretary of the class, member of the Intercollegiate Conference Committee and again a member of the track team.

K. R. Sutherland '22, is also a member of the drive committee. He will be remembered as Publicity manager of Voo Doo, member of the 1920 Junior Prom committee and as Secretary of the Institute Committee.

These two men will be aided in securing subscription by T. H. Boyd '23, Secretary of the Naval Architecture Society, D. H. Keck '24, President of the Sophomore class, and Shedd Vandenberg '25.

The drive will be conducted by the committee beginning next Monday, November 14, and will be continued until November 19.

As in the past the committee expect to receive the full support of the student body.

TRY TO SECURE LEADING CHEMIST TO ADDRESS SMOKER

It was announced today by the Chemical Society that a large smoker with some interesting and non-technical talks by prominent men is to be on the program. The officers of the club are in constant communication with one of the men who made a hit at the Chemical Show held in New York recently and are endeavoring to secure him to address the club on that occasion.

The results of the trip to the Carter Ink company were very satisfactory, according to C. D. Grover '22, recently elected manager of the trips of the society.

Many trips to other chemical industries of interest to the men are being arranged. It is desired by the officers of the society, however, to impress those wishing to benefit by accompanying these investigations that they should sign up early at Professor Norris's office as the allowed number for each trip is limited.

DORMITORY COMMITTEE MAKES FIRST INSPECTION

The first inspection of the dormitories was completed recently by the Dormitory Committee. The committee was well pleased with the conditions they found existing in the living quarters of the students. This procedure was only instituted this year in an effort by the committee to cooperate with both the superintendent and the Student General Dormitory Committee to see that the students were having the best possible place to live.

There will be an inspection by the Dormitory Committee every alternate Thursday. The examination which they make of the rooms is only to see that things are in good order and that the students are not allowing things to transpire which would injure their health or happiness.

Dean H. P. Talbot, chairman of the committee, and speaking for the committee, stated that there were no complaints registered against the service the students were receiving, but that the efforts of the committee were only directed towards the better co-operation of the committee and the students.

OFFICERS MEET TO DISCUSS GREATER BOSTON MENORAH

A regular meeting of the officers of the Menorah Society will take place next Wednesday. At this time details for the invitation of the Menorah Societies of greater Boston for a joint conference will be discussed, and recommendations acted upon.

Plans for the Greater Boston Menorah Society group are developing and it is expected that when the meeting takes place on November 16 a definite plan of action will be ready for submission.

A regular meeting of the entire body of the society is also scheduled to take place next week if possible. Acting on the idea suggested by some, the executive committee is attempting to secure both non- as well as Jewish speakers to preside and address the gathering in order that the study groups may get the viewpoint of non-Jews on peculiarly Jewish questions.

A NOVEL EXPERIMENT

In order to get the entering classes acquainted with the offices of the various activities Professor Pearson has devised the novel expedient of inviting the leaders of some of them to talk before the assembled classes at their regular lecture periods in English and History.

THEATRES

what Little Lord Fauntleroy thought when he first came to Dorincourt Castle. The young lord was not to be bluffed: not for a minute; and he saw to it that every one of his grandfather's tenants was supplied with pie and all the fix'n's. It was rather an unusual procedure; sort of floored the old Earl, but the youngster won out in the end.

Mary Pickford plays Fauntleroy admirably in the very artistic dramatization of the famous book, now running at the Selwyn, and does double duty as her own mother. For clever character acting throughout, and settings that give the atmosphere desired, whether the scene is in Little Old New York, or in the great estate at Dorincourt, the picture is well-nigh perfect, and you will like Fauntleroy quite as well as the Earl did.

BIZET'S CARMEN SUCCESS AT OPERA HOUSE

Mme. Ferrabini, assuming the title role of Carmen, produced a sensation last Monday night at the opening performance of the San Carlo Opera Co. Her presentation was both interesting and effective. Her facial expression, her eloquent eyes, her very walk revealed the tragic side of Carmen. The expression of sensuousness, indifference, scorn and hate, was at all times fascinating and compelling. Her tones, significant and colorful gave vent to extreme applause.

Miss Keltie, in the role of Micaela, sang well but at times without true quality. Mr. Royer, as the bull fighter, gave much pleasure through his interpretation of Escamillo, the rival.

Aside from the superfluous use of the toe dancer's arms, the ballet did very creditably.

As evidenced by the throngs that attended, the San Carlo Opera ranks among the best.

VARIETY BILL AT THE MAJESTIC

The bill at the Majestic theatre this week is composed of a wide variety of acts. Walter Weems, who calls himself the "Southern Humorist," had some clever jokes and amused the audience with his French horn. Alexandra Carlisle, last seen in the "Country Cousin," was the principal in a sketch "It Can Be Done." Charles Aldrich was very good in his characterizations and drew a deal of applause. Lillian Fitzgerald, former leading lady in Ed Wynn's Carnival, had some lively songs that were well put across.

NEW SHOWS THIS WEEK

TREMONT: "The Love Letter," 8:15. Franz Molinar's musical play scores a big hit. First class acting, dancing and singing.

COLONIAL: "Two Little Girls in Blue," 8:15. Good music, peachy girls and delightful dancing.

The subtle something that makes your college different from any other, and dearer to you, than all the rest combined. In cigarettes, it's the signal success that makes so many college men of discrimination prefer Melachrino, the one cigarette sold the world over.

Remember that Melachrino is a master blend of the finest Turkish Tobaccos as originated by Miltiades Melachrino. Egyptian cigarettes are simply those that originated in Egypt. But the tobacco is what you want to know about—and if it's Melachrino—it's right
