

JUNIOR CLASS MAKES PLANS FOR DANCE

Tickets Go on Sale November 22

Plans are fast maturing for the Junior dance, to be held in Walker Memorial on the evening of December 9. The Copley Plaza orchestra has been engaged for the occasion.

Dancing will start at 8:30 and will continue until 2 with an intermission for supper at 11:30.

Tickets will go on sale the Tuesday before Thanksgiving in the main lobby. Preliminary dance orders will be given out then. Those wishing to sit together at supper can make arrangements to do this by buying their tickets together.

WELLESLEY GLEE CLUB PLANS JOINT CONCERT

The Wellesley College Glee Club and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Orchestra are planning a joint concert to be given at the "Barn" at Wellesley on Wednesday evening the night before Thanksgiving. Dancing in Tower Court and Clafin Hall will follow the concert.

CATHOLIC CLUB PLANS TO HOLD FEDERATION DANCE

The Technology Chapter of the Catholic Club will be the host at a Federation dance given by the New England Province of the Federation of College Catholic Clubs in the main hall of Walker Memorial on next Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Girls will be present from Smith, Wellesley, Boston University, Radcliffe, the Conservatory, Wheelocks, and Simmons, while men from Harvard, Tufts, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Boston University, and Boston College will also be present. The matrons for the dance will be Mrs. Alvan Lynch, Mrs. Herbert J. Hickey, Mrs. Buckley, Mrs. Henry A. Hagan, and Mrs. John H. Sheridan. The affair will be informal.

Meeting to Discuss Plans

There will be a meeting of the delegates next Friday night in St. Cecilia Hall to discuss plans for the season, and for the extension of the organization. The following guests will be present at the meeting: Rev. John McGarry, Chaplain of New England Province, Rev. John Fletcher, Chaplain of B. U. Newman Club, and Rev. George O'Connor, who is the Chaplain of the M. I. T. Catholic Club. A dance for the delegates will be held at the conclusion of the meeting.

Give Communion Breakfast

A Communion breakfast will be given at St. Cecilia's hall next Sunday morning. The following Faculty guests will be present: Professor Frank O'Mara, of Tufts Medical College, Professor Marie M. Duggan, of B. U., and Matthew A. Copithorne of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

CHINESE STUDENTS UNITE TO DEFEND RIGHTS OF CHINA

A Greater Boston Chinese Students Committee has been organized to help the cause of China in America by giving to the American public the facts about the conditions and desires of China. This committee was formed as a result of a mass meeting held September 28.

The committee has five branches, namely, the literary, research bureau, newspaper bureau, speakers bureau, friendly relations bureau, and financial bureau. F. H. Hua '23, of Technology, is assistant chairman of the newspaper bureau.

The most important bureau, and the one on which the Institute has the greatest representation, is the Speakers bureau. The Technology men on this branch are Y. L. Ta '22, chairman; C. S. Chen '22, C. T. Chien '22, Y. T. Chow '22, K. C. Ku '22, S. M. Lee '20, Z. Z. Li '23, P. L. Tsang '23, and S. L. Yang '21.

Arrangements are being made to give entertainments and speeches before the clubs and societies of Boston. The program up to date is as follows: Boston Masonic Club—February 4, Woman's Association of Allston Congregational Church—December 8, Fitchburg Normal School—December 8, Men's Club, First Baptist Church—February 19, International Union of Steam and Operating En-Trinity Church—November 19.

INFORMAL REPORTS OUT

Cheer up, frosh, the worst is yet to come! Registrar Humphreys has mailed the informal mid-term reports. We admit that it is a case that should be brought to the attention of the S. P. C. F. (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Freshmen), for did not the class of '25 suffer enough but ten short days ago to last them until the Christmas vacation? But it's a way they have at the Institute, to drive vain joy away.

Rejoice not, ye Sophomores, for your reports will come soon; they have merely been delayed by the holiday, and will be put in the mail today.

DECEMBER CONCERT WILL FINANCE TRIP

its support of the Trip Concert. The main purpose of the Trip Concert is to raise funds for the travelling expenses of the clubs, as the guarantees of the Alumni in the cities which the clubs will visit cannot be sufficiently great to insure complete financial success.

To upperclassmen the Trip Concert may seem like an attempt on the part of the management to revert to the old plan of having the Winter Concert before Christmas. But as the Winter and the Spring Concerts will come at their usual times in January and April, the Trip Concert stands out as a third home concert of the clubs, which is on a par with the other two concerts. This newly-established policy is also a result of the radical steps which the clubs are taking under their new system of management.

The clubs will present their usual program, which will last until about 9:30 o'clock. After this time Bert Lowe will preside over his six-piece orchestra in the Somerset ball-room. After the experience the clubs will have obtained by giving local concerts at the Franklin Square House and at Sargent School, the coaches express their belief that a well-executed program will be presented.

The Sargent concert will come this week-end and will be the second appearance of the clubs of 1921-1922 before Boston audiences. Rehearsals twice a week are still in vogue, and the personnel of the clubs has been definitely closed save for further cuts before the trip.

THEATRE CLUB TO GIVE A COURSE IN DRAMATICS

The Francis Jewett Repertory Theatre Club is making arrangements for a series of classes in dramatics to be given this winter. The course, which will be especially adapted to the needs of the dramatic committees of clubs who are looking for practical aid in presenting plays, will cover not only the art of acting but also the technique of producing plays.

The services of Mr. E. E. Clive, Mr. Percy Foster, and Mr. Moffat Johnston, well-known members of the Jewett Players, have been obtained to conduct the classes, through the courtesy of the director of the Copley Theatre. At the conclusion of the course it is hoped that sufficient talent will have been discovered to make possible one or more public performances of the plays in which the classes have been coached.

The classes will meet for the first time on Saturday, December 3. Further information concerning enrollment may be obtained by applying to Mrs. J. Weston Allen, chairman of the Education Committee of the Francis Jewett Repertory Theatre Club.

NOMINATIONS FOR 1925 OFFICERS DUE TUESDAY

All nominations for officers of the class of 1925 must be in the Information Office by noon, tomorrow. From the list of men who are eligible for nomination, the following officers are to be elected: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, two members of the Institute Committee, and two members of the Executive Committee.

Freshmen are advised to examine the eligibility list for both nomination and voting privileges which is posted on the main bulletin board. Men whose names do not appear on this list and who consider themselves eligible should notify H. J. Horn '22, at 4 Ames St., Cambridge, immediately.

Nomination blanks are to be typewritten, and must contain the nominee's name, the signatures of ten men who indorse the nomination, and the signed acceptance of the nominee.

EMINENT DUTCH CHEMIST TO LECTURE AT TECHNOLOGY

Dr. Ernest Cohen, Professor of Chemistry in the University of Utrecht is to give two lectures at the Institute this month. The first of these, "The Diffusion Problem," is to be given on Tuesday, November 15, at four o'clock in room 5-330 and replaces the meeting of research conferences in applied chemistry. The second comes on Friday, November 18, at four o'clock in 10-250, and is announced as "The Life and Work of van't Hoff" and replaces Mr. Underwood's lecture as given out in the course in "Recent Developments in Science." Mr. Underwood will lecture during the second term.

Dr. Cohen, who is the successor of van't Hoff, has given these lectures in English at a number of American Universities with marked success. He is to lecture at Harvard as well as Technology and men at both may make arrangements to attend the lectures at the other. Professor J. F. Norris expects that a large number of men will take advantage of this unusual series.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS

ENGLISH UNIVERSITIES PLAN A DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

Plans for inaugurating an Intercollegiate Conference on the Limitation of Armaments similar to the one held at Princeton last week are being made by Dr. John H. Muirhead, Professor of Philosophy and Political Economy at the University of Birmingham, England, together with the university students. This will be the first step towards bringing the Disarmament question before the college men of Great Britain.

Upon being questioned as to how the plans are going to be carried out in England, Dr. Muirhead gave the following explanation: "The larger colleges of England have student governments much like yours. The Guilds of the English institutions may be even more democratic than the Senior Councils of the American colleges. At any rate, with the approval of the undergraduate body as a whole, the Guild of Birmingham will undertake the inauguration of this work, following those suggestions which I shall receive from the leaders of the Conference at Princeton."

Williams To Build New Gym

A new gymnasium, estimated cost to be about $4,000,000, will be the latest addition to Williams College. The board of trustees plans a campaign for more endowments for the purpose of building this athletic plant. The plans call for a baseoall infield for indoor practice, two basketball courts, seven squash courts, an indoor running track and two tennis courts, besides the regular gymnasium equipment.

Stage Air Contest

This year brings a new kind of contest between the two great English universities, Oxford and Cambridge, in the form of an aeroplane race. The first inter-varsity flying match will be held at the Hendon Airdrome, and will consist of three events which ought to produce keen competition, since both institutions can claim men who learned their aviation during the war.

Dr. Shapley has been appointed director of Harvard College observatory, where he has been observer for the past eight months. He was formerly connected with the Mt. Wilson solar observatory at Pasadena, Cal. Many Technology students have had occasion to hear Dr. Shapley at one of the Friday afternoon lectures at Smith Hall about three weeks ago.

Radcliffe women of legal bent will no longer be deprived of the opportunity to study. A course, similar to the one given at the Harvard Law School, will be repeated for the benefit of those interested in the legal profession.

Speaking of "snap" courses, Columbia University students will very likely go "on location" this winter and will film a few reels as part of a new course in movies, the first to be given in any college.

The mysteries of the newest of the arts will be laid bare in the course. The logic of satisfactory endings will be explained, and the principles of visual appeal, the hurling of custard pies, the fadeaway, the close-up, and the entire act of arousing and sustaining the spectator's interest will be shown inside and out to those taking the course.

The Sophomores of the University of Cincinnati effectively got rid of the officers of the freshman class by kidnapping them and locking them up in the monkey cage of the Cincinnati Zoo. After the prisoners, who didn't appreciate their hosts, tried for some time to get through the bars of the cage, they finally escaped by working on the sympathy of their guard. They pleaded thirst, and when the kind-hearted Sophomore who was guarding them went to get them a bottle of pop, they succeeded in breaking the bars of the cage and so escaped. However, they will not be allowed to forget their imprisonment with their brethren soon, as they were caught by the Pathe News photographer, and will soon be over the country.

LATIN AMERICAN CLUB WILL HAVE DINNER THIS MONTH

F. Ravecca '22, the vice-president of the Latin American Club will speak at a dinner to be given by the Club, November 25. The topic of his discussion will be "Public Education in Uruguay." There will be a meeting after the dinner. It has not yet been decided where the meeting will be held.

A. Ponce '22, president of the club is trying to have lectures such as these by the members of the club at all of the meetings. He has secured J. F. Moore of Harvard to speak on "Mexico" some time in January. This meeting will be open to all students of the Institute. Arrangements are also being made for a dance to be given by the club in about the middle of January.

GRAND PRIX DE ROME WINNER TO TEACH HERE

sign at the school of architecture at Harvard.

"Upon their arrival it is said that Boston will be the only place in the country where two Grand Prix winners are united in teaching architecture in schools which co-operate. The departments at Harvard and M. I. T. frequently engage in 'conjunctive problems' in architecture, a fact which will give Ferran and Haffner a chance to work together. The two men, both of whom speak English fluently, are close friends.

"Ferran, who will begin his work in the architectural department of M. I. T. at the opening of the second term, was born at San Francisco in August, 1886, of French parents. His father has become a naturalized American citizen. He lived with his parents in California until 1902, and then went to Paris.

"In 1904 Ferran entered the Ecole des Beaux Arts, where he worked as a student and at the same time did practical work in the offices of French architects until 1914, when he won the Grand Prix de Rome. He had already received his degree in 1910. He was a pupil of Victor Laloux."

STARTS MUSIC AND LYRIC COMPETITION

Tech Show 1922 Expects Many New Song Hits

Copies of the synopsis of Tech Show 1922, "The Sacred Cow," will be available for the use of prospective music and lyric writers by Monday, November 14, states the publicity department. These copies have been reproduced in order that a good understanding of the story of the show may be obtained by all who desire to enter into the music and lyric competition.

Due to the qualities displayed in the story of "The Sacred Cow," the management expects that there will be many contributions, as the nature of the show offers exceptional opportunities for original but well fitting talent. Starting as it does in Paris and proceeding from there even to one Ptoomania, the gem of the South Seas, it is thought opportunity is afforded for great versatility in ideas for writing successful hits. If good music and lyrics can now be added to the well-written and humorous story which is on hand at present, Tech Show 1922 feels sure of success.

With the number of men in the Institute at this time who have written music and lyrics for former shows, besides others who have already signified their intentions at the first Music and Lyric smoker held November 8, very good results are looked for in this competition.

HELPS AUSTRALIA

Francis F. Longley is going to Australia to help the newly created Ministry of Health established a Department of Sanitary Engineering for that continent. He recently severed his connection with the League of Red Cross in Switzerland. During the war he was Colonel of United States Engineers and at one time he had charge of the entire water supply for the American Expeditionary Forces.

sides trying the direct heart affairs of her daughter, Mrs. Orrin is an imaginary invalid of the worst possible kind. Eve the daughter, while engaged to young Marchant does not really love him and things are not always humorous between the two. The play opens with the two families spending a vacation among the beautiful hills of Massachusetts, where Mrs. Orrin is seeking health as usual. Eve is on the verge of a nervous breakdown over her engagement to young Marchant and the unpleasant disposition of her mother. A young doctor who comes to prescribe for the mother remains to care for the daughter and, as is to be expected, loses his heart to Eve, and in so doing gets into a very delicate and difficult family affair. The result is situations full of sparkling comedy. The lines are bright and witty and anyone who enjoys laughing should surely see this play.

The comedy was written by Rachael Barton Butler, formerly a member of Professor Baker's English Class at Harvard. It was submitted in competition with forty-two others and was awarded the $500 prize by the three judges Winthrop Ames, Oliver Morosco and Professor Baker of Harvard.

It proved one of the biggest hits of the season when produced in New York, being played with an all-star cast and taking its place with those other Harvard prize plays which had such record-breaking runs in Boston, "Believe Me Zantippe," and "Common Clay."
