The track squad is putting in this week the last of the nine formal trials of the season on December 19 and 21. The squad will practice on Saturday, December 19, in the middle of the afternoon and the mills on Tuesday. After two weeks practice there will be no more until the men return from the Christmas break.

Last Saturday all the men were present for the last formal trial to get them ready for the more important trials of the season. The attendance was much better than last Saturday but Coach Hendrie still failed to appreciate the importance of the men's work on the final day of the week. In the 300 yards W. L. Smith came in first as he expected but the general showings were poor. Several men in particular failed to do anything but the fast times and gave little encouragement for the 300 yards team this year.
