COMMUNICATION

To the Editor of THE TECH:

After reading the scurrilous remarks of one of your columnists, I feel impelled to shift, as an anti- or non-differ, to that old happy camp.

The first place, "The Lounger" takes the attitude that everyone ought to have an individualism to his own advantage, and if a man is in any way a public servant, it is the proper duty of the individual, and cause suspicion and hostility. All he needs is to do his work and nothing else. Then, too, animal skins wouldn't be as cumbersome as clothes, and if his old gentleman says we Tech men are mighty good fellow ship. He is bound to divide the unity of the Institute. If Uncle Dudley is merely generalizing, then he is doing his duty, as he will not show a feeling of good-fellowship. If, however, being wrong, The Lounger will merely pat you on the back, and wailing that the world is wrong, I believe liberal education is necessary. No good further, except to consider making a garden without fertilizer, and keep the ground broken up and fruitful. If at the Lounger agee-

AN APPRECIATION

Last week the trustees Committee formally approved the donation of a gift to the University by George P. Beverly. In doing so it merely record of the sentiment of a very appreciative student body, and quoted in part as follows: "We, the students, in the midst of his works at practical science, and that back of the old Marquis of Queensbury courtesies.

The Jewett Players present an Eng-

MOTHER OF 71

On Friday, at 5 o'clock.

HERRICK

COPLEY SQUARE

Crapes, Handkerchiefs, etc.

Mr. Pierce has taken an active part in the graduate science courses, and in his century showing the departing Deln.

ALUMNI NOTES

FRANK J. PIERCE

With deep regret THE TECH regrets to announce the death of Mrs. Pierce '58, in her home in Providence.

The Lounger, a "shaver," does it all. He's a fellow that's got business on all hands, is always in the right place, answers any question if it seems necessary to him, that, to provide for the other fellow in all possible ways. He's a good fellow, and should be treated accordingly.

NOTICES FOR UNDERRADUATES

OFFICIAL

The fourth issue of the series, "Re-

With deep regret THE TECH regrets to announce the death of Mrs. Pierce '58, in her home in Providence.

The Lounger, a "shaver," does it all. He's a fellow that's got business on all hands, is always in the right place, answers any question if it seems necessary to him, that, to provide for the other fellow in all possible ways. He's a good fellow, and should be treated accordingly.

NOTICES FOR UNDERRADUATES

OFFICIAL

The fourth issue of the series, "Re- develop experiments in Science," will be published tomorrow, by Professor H. E. Smith of the Department of Chemistry. "Methods of Measuring the Energy Expenditure of Men." Make up examinations for Sopho-