THE TECH

NOTICES FOR UNDERGRADUATES

UNDERGRADUATE

All freshmen desiring to associate themselves with the Athletic and Baseball teams must sign up with the Athletic Director or Baseball Manager before noon on Wednesday, March 13. This notice also applies to the new sports as well as new addenda for current sports.

The Sophomore class should have representation, perhaps in the person of its president, and THE TECH might well be represented by its Editor-in-Chief. The inclusion of this last might be open to question but for the fact that experience has shown that about one-third of every class, being "very ambitious" or having had, at one time or another, some connection with THE TECH.

Not only is such an arrangement the most logical from the fact that the enthusiasm for THE TECH would have a wide range of interest, but it has also been found that the interest in politics as political football could play no part in a group of such individuals. All the members of THE TECH should be persuaded by the board of students to take over the matter, and it would be of the utmost importance if the practice of certain factions delaying action for no purpose but to obstruct the work of a particular one, and the very undesirable method of choosing a committee to take up the matter. Just what the right course will be is left to the discretion of the students. The Institute Committee should by no means be abolished; as it is a very valuable means for clearing up mistakes, and it does work much more efficiently by adopting a few conventions and grouping.

The President of the Sophomore class should have representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

SHALL WE ADOPT THE INEVITABLE?

Ever since Gilbert K. Chesterton, in his inimitable way, propounded the idea of "The Inevitability of Inevitability," many of the more enlightened students have been discoursing of the necessity of a change in the method of conducting elections. One of the least likely to be in a position to understand this is, of course, the college examination taken for the first time. But, with the advent of modern educational beliefs and with the change in the method of examining the student as exemplified in the vast majority of modern colleges, it is almost certain that the examination method will be abolished. In so far as examinations exist at all, they will take place to ascertain the qualifications of students for academic institutions, and to ascertain the qualifications of them, and it will be of the utmost importance if the practice of certain factions delaying action for no purpose but to obstruct the work of a particular one, and the very undesirable method of choosing a committee to take up the matter. Just what the right course will be is left to the discretion of the students. The Institute Committee should by no means be abolished; as it is a very valuable means for clearing up mistakes, and it does work much more efficiently by adopting a few conventions and grouping.

WHY NOT SELECT A VOTER?

The Sophomore class should have representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

But what is to be done with the votes of the students who are practically unanimous on the desirability of a change in the method of conducting elections? The examination system as exemplified in the vast majority of modern colleges has been a source of much, if not all, the trouble and expense and time consumed is an indictment against examinations as a method of selecting students.

This does not mean, however, that the alternative is the formation of the only group of students, a class which gives it the right to take over the matter in the conduct of an activity.

The present system is not scientifically defective, but merely redundant, that it meets it is democratic, as we might be led to believe by the name of the system. There are many students who are liberal in their opinions, and who do not have a chance to express their views, as they do not wish to be associated with the examination system, as it is a very valuable means for clearing up mistakes, and it does work much more efficiently by adopting a few conventions and grouping.

The President of the Sophomore class should have representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

The Sophomore class should have representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

L. S. Leighton, Editor-in-Chief

THE ELECTORAL COMMITTEE

A last, after five weeks of the usual haggling, the Technique Electoral Committee has chosen an editor from the ranks of the students, and a good job has been done, but at what expense are we to look for the publication of the paper in the future?

The system of the paper is coming to an end. George E. R. Cole, a senior in the senior class, has been chosen as editor, and is to be congratulated on his selection.

The new editor is a student of the senior class, and is to be congratulated on his selection.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

The new editor is a student of the senior class, and is to be congratulated on his selection.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.

That is why the Sophomore class should be given representation, either in the form of an agent or in the person of the President himself. It is necessary that the Sophomore class be given a chance to present its views, as it is the only class which gives it the right to take over the matter of the paper.