Spikes

John Molinar, who rowed number two on last year's varsity, is back on the job again. The first day he did not show up but yesterday he had his old seat back on the first crew.

Due to the pressure of his work on the crew, Ed Dunlaevy, captain of the Sophomore field day eight, has resigned his position as a member of the Technique Electoral Committee. At present Ed is stroking the junior varsity.

Four varsity and one freshman crew were on the river yesterday. The men are somewhat handicapped as no coach and no coaching launch are on deck when they are most needed. Captain McCurdy has taken charge of these men, but few changes will be made in the boats until a coach has been secured.

Wednesday was the first regular day of spring track work. Most of the squad of 190 men reported. The first thing on the program will be the inter class meet on Monday, April 17. The men who are just starting this spring will have to hustle to get in shape by then.

Finances Keep Team Home From Swimming Finals

Due to finances, the swimming team is not going to take the contemplated trip to Philadelphia to compete in the Intercollegiate this week-end. Technology will have no representatives in the meet, but Manager Ed Miller is going to take the trip to represent the Institute in a business meeting Saturday afternoon.

The meet should prove of great interest. In it Yale will be given a chance to again defend the title she has held for 10 years. Brown will be a strong contender if Gordon Smith is back in the running. The Naval Academy is another team that the Eli will have to look out for. Their star, Kakanani, will furnish strong opposition to Jones of Brown and Jelliffe of Yale in both the dashes.

WRESTLERS ENTER N. E. INTERCOLLEGIATES

ENGINEER WRESTLERS IN FINAL CONTESTS

Technology, Brown, Harvard and Dartmouth Teams Fight Tonight

The New England wrestling intercollegiate is the bait that is attracting wrestling fans to the Hemenway gym at Harvard tonight and tomorrow afternoon. There are four colleges represented: Technology, Brown, Harvard, and Dartmouth. Brown seems the most likely possibility for high honors, discounting a possible dark horse. Brown whipped the Beavers 17-10 in a very close match, while the Engineers took John Harvard's scalp with an 18-8 tally. In the Dartmouth-Harvard setto, the Hanoverians emerged the victors with a 13-9 score, while the hillmen completed the rites over John Harvard with a 16-11 score. In the Brown-Dartmouth clash, the Providence lads captured a 21-8 victory. The Beavers have not met the Hanover Indians on the mat, so Dartmouth is an uncertainty to Technology as far as personal experience is concerned.

First Fights Run Off Tonight

The preliminary bouts are scheduled for this evening at 7:30 o'clock, while the finals are dated for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Institute lineup has already been picked and its members expect to give a good account of themselves in the bouts. Harry Bruner, who recently copped first honors in the 115-pound class at the N. E. A. A. U. meet of this year, will represent the Beavers in this class. Bruner easily won his bout against Lewin of Harvard by a fall, while in his meeting with Staples of Brown he found a hard contestant, who finally took the bout by decision. Bruner, however, has tackled the wrestling game for the first time this year and, despite this evident handicap, has made remarkable progress, capping his work with a fitting climax, a N. E. A. A. U. championship.

Tuttle, holders of last year's N. E. A. A. U. championship in the 115-pound class, will cover the 125-pound berth for the Institute wrestlers. Tuttle has been unable to wrestle this year because of an operation for appendicitis, but now feels in excellent condition. He defeated Francis Hazeltine in an elimination bout for the 125-pound position several days ago.

V. J. Weatherly is the Engineers' choice for the 135-pound Institute position. In his bout with Crawford of Harvard, he inflicted terrible punishment on the Crimson contestant, taking the bout by a fall. The Beaver was not so successful in the Brown Technology meet, losing a hard-fought decision to Dustin of the Hill-men.

Captain Buttler Enters

Captain George Buttler will shine for the Engineers in the 145-pound bouts. He convinced Lazure of Brown of the latter's inferiority in a little more than two minutes with a fall, while it took a hard-fought decision to get the goods from Curtis Nelson of Harvard.

Francis Hereford, who has made amazing headway with the wrestling game at the Institute, despite his inexperience, will officiate in a 155-pound capacity at the intercollegiate. His possible contenders will be De Wolfe of Harvard and Smith of Brown. The Harvard man lost a decision to the Beaver in the HT meet, while the Hillman had his shoulders placed on the mat in about five minutes.

Kennett will cover the 175-pound class for Technology, meeting Aberthy of Harvard, whom he wrestled to a draw in overtime periods, and Shurtleff of Brown, who threw Thom as, Kennett's team-mate, in four minutes. Shurtleff is one of the best men on the Brown team. Heath will wrestle in the unlimited weight class.

BREAK RECORDS AT YALE

Five world's records were smashed in the Carnegie Pool at Yale by its championship team. N. T. Guernsey broke his own record for the plunge when he made 75 feet in 35 seconds. The records for the 400, 500, and 600 yard and one-mile relay were pushed up a notch also.

OUTDOOR SEASON TO OPEN LATE IN APRIL

Only Two Matches Lost by Captain Sydnor Hall's Sharpshooters

The Institute Rifle team triumphed over the Yale marksmen last week to the tune of 496-495. In so doing, the Engineers secured their fifth consecutive victory, and their eighth of the season. Possible scores were made by Mart Buerger and J. J. Gray. This is the tenth dual match of the indoor season. Four more matches remain besides the N. R. A. Intercollegiate Championship match.

During the season the Beaver sharpshooters have met and defeated all of the rifle teams eligible for the intercollegiate championship of New England and consequently this honor is practically assured to Technology. Their two defeats were administered by Norwich University, which is an essentially military school, and which won the National Intercollegiate Championship last year, and by Georgetown University, which also placed high in last year's Intercollegiate Match. Georgetown won from the Institute by one point.

Meet Harvard This Week

The rifle team has been more successful during the past season than any other Institute team, having won 80 per cent of its contests. Its antagonists have included Yale, Princeton, B. U., Carnegie Tech, University of Maryland, and Worcester Polytech. Harvard will shoot against the Institute this week. Next week the Engineers will buck Drexel Institute, after which they will wind up the season with matches against the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Maine.

Manager Lund announces that an outdoor rifle team will be organized in a short time. The outdoor season will open in the last part of April. The shooting will be done at the Government range at Wakefield, and will probably include firing at 200, 300, and 500 yards. A tentative schedule includes Yale, Norwich, B. U., and the University of Maryland. One or two other matches will probably be arranged. Candidates will be called for as soon as the Wakefield range is open. The rifles used will be star gauged Springfield, furnished by the Military Science Department.

for the first time. Carl Dippel did nifty work for the Institute last year and, though not a phenomenal jumper, can clear 21 feet consistently. Prescott and Heap have beaten him at times but their performances have generally been more spasmodic and less consistent than Carl's.

Will Miss Dandrow in Weights

The Engineers will keenly feel the loss of George Dandrow in the hammer and shot put as there is no one to take his place. A number of candidates are working out in the weight events but it is too early to judge their value. Howard Dexter and Tillie Tonon, the basketball star, are the only veterans left. Tillie garnered several points for the Institute in the 1921 season and Dex is looking like a scoring man this year. Big Nimick, who starred for the frosh, is on hand for the varsity and in his specialty, the shot put, is doing well. George Boli, the crack javelin man, is also working with the hammer and shot.

Track Men More Numerous

Veterans are more numerous in the track events, though a number of stars are gone. Bawden, Bossert, Spitz, Bardes, and MacMahon were all important point winners last season and their places must be filled. The sprints seem well taken care of though the mile is weak with only one top-notch man, Elmer Sanborn, to count on. Sam Vadner, who ran cross-country last fall, is training hard for the mile run, however, and if he can develop the necessary speed his staying power gained in distance running will make him a valuable mate for Elmer.

The two-mile run will be taken care of in fine style with cross-country captain-elect Bob Hendrie, Art Flanders, and Russ Robertson entered in the event for the Engineers. Bob ran a good second to Billy MacMahon last spring and has been improving right along, while Flanders makes a good partner for him. Russ Robertson did not compete for the frosh on the cinders but was on the 1924 cross-country team and last fall's varsity.

Beavers Strong in Sprints

In the hundred Technology has two classy veterans in Al Hayes and Ed Heap. Heap did some fancy sprinting in the winter meets and will bear watching this spring. Herrick Tappan won the hundred in the fall handicap meet and is out to win some more laurels. Also Frankie Howlett can double up in this event if necessary, as he can click off a snappy sprint, though his regular distance is the 220.

The 220 has three of the Institute's best in Frankie Howlett, Jack Poole, and Bill Smith. Howlett was out most of last season with a bad leg, while Bill was ineligible, but both men will be in fine fettle for the coming meets this year. Bill Smith, as well as Captain Chittick, may double up in the 440. Bill Gurney and Art Smith will hold down the job regularly, but Captain Yard and Bill may also go in if necessary.

Chittick Best Bet in Hurdles

Chittick's specialty is the low hurdles and judging by his past performances over the timbers he can be counted on for places when they're needed. Allen King, another veteran, is also a dependable man in the low sticks, while Ambach, last year's yearling star, and Bert Reed, will probably try their skill in this event. Russ Ambach is the chief reliance in the high hurdles, as no other man has shown anything. Russ did good work for the frosh but he can hardly be expected to carry the event alone. Paul Pratt seems to be fast over the "tall timbers," but he is a transfer from Michigan and ineligible until next season.

CREW MEN MUST TAKE SWIMMING EXAMINATIONS

The crew candidates are again faced by the necessity of exposing themselves to swimming examinations. Last year all that was deemed necessary was to ask the candidate if he could flounder through 50 yards of water without touching bottom.

As everybody could swim under such a test it was decided to take the men down to the Boston "Y" and find out for sure this year. Already several men have failed to meet the requirements.

No Coach Obtained Yet

Coach, coaching boat, and oars are all still in the process of being obtained. The oars have been ordered from Harvard, but their delivery has been delayed, which necessitates that the men use the old oars a little while longer. Nothing definite has been heard from the Athletic Association yet on the coaching proposition. Now is when a coach is needed most, however, so a choice will probably be made soon.
