A NEW REGIME

BUT a little over a year ago a conference held within our halls showed conclusively that Technology was unique in the extent and completeness of its student government.

Unfortunately, accomplishments are too often measured in headlines, and only the spectacular stands out before the public as real achievement.

The action of the Committee in establishing a system whereby elections may be uniformly and efficiently handled is worthy of commendation. At the present time, all elections in which a whole class is eligible to vote are handled by the Elections Committee

To the average student, the announcement that all drives within the Institute must have the sanction of the governing body means but little until it is stated that fully half a dozen requests for permission to run drives have been refused.

Then, too, the Committee has been occupied in revising and interpreting the constitution and the rulings of past committees. It was responsible for the presentation of a gift to Dean Burton.

However, during the time that the Institute Committee was engaged in the performance of its various tasks, many of the students no doubt forgot that they had elected representatives to such a body, and not a few of them apparently went out of their way to disregard its requests.

The new Committee starts the year with an inheritance of accomplishment from its predecessors. This year, as heretofore, the meetings will be open to all who care to attend.

LIBRARY HOURS

OCCASIONALLY one hears a suggestion from a student with reference to opening the library on Saturday evenings and on Sunday.

To put such an arrangement into effect, however, would entail considerable labor and expense, and would hardly be worth while unless a comparatively large number of students took advantage of the privilege.

NOTICES

FOR UNDERGRADUATES

The Night Editor in charge of the next issue of THE TECH is W. W. Scripps '24, telephone Univ. 6871.

All men who have definitely decided or are considering going to the Silver Bay Conference June 15-23 will kindly meet in the T. C. A. office today, at 5 o'clock.

All members of the Chinese Club are asked to meet at Notman's studio in Harvard Square, Cambridge, today, at 2:30 o'clock, in order to have a group picture taken.

Spring is here. Old Sol is once more on his annual trip from Capricorn to Cancer in order to convince us again of the practicability of straw hats and the one-piece bathing suit.

"Let hailstones pelt, And icebergs melt,— To prove the ire of winter.

"Let the thunders roar While the waters pour,— Of summer that's a hinter.

"But snow or rain, It's all the same,— GOLF PANTS ENDURE FOREVER."

The knely knicker was with us all winter. It is even more in evidence since the arrival of spring. By summer it promises to have entirely eliminated its more elongated adversary.

It is indeed a discouraging state of affairs. Time was when the Scotch Highlander was held to be immoral for exhibiting bare knees. Even now a storm of protest is raging against the "alry" tendencies of our feminine contemporaries.

'Tis bad enough for students. But when the Faculty adopts the fad the Lounge's pen thirsts passionately for more of the poisonous venom on which it subsists.

Personally, the Lounge does not commit himself. He hints, however, that the knicker affords a fine opportunity to conceal a quart bottle.

Librarian R. P. Bigelow of the Central Library announces that if there is enough demand for the main library to be open on Saturday evenings and Sundays, he will be only too glad to give the matter favorable consideration.
