AN ACHIEVEMENT

IT is with a heart full of pride and a sense of achievement that we present this issue of the Tech to our readers, for in the current term it has been the privilege of the Tech to leave behind an era of mediocrity and to enter a new and better field of endeavor.

The Tech is a reflection of the spirit and ideals of the members of the Tech. It is a journal of the past, present, and future, and it is our duty to preserve and perpetuate that spirit and that tradition.

In the past, the Tech has been a medium for the expression of the thoughts and feelings of the students of MIT. It has been a platform for the airing of the grievances and complaints of the students. It has been a vehicle for the dissemination of information and news. It has been a means of entertainment and amusement. It has been a forum for the discussion of the problems and issues of the day.

In the present, the Tech is a medium for the expression of the thoughts and feelings of the students of MIT. It is a journal of the past, present, and future, and it is our duty to preserve and perpetuate that spirit and that tradition.

In the future, the Tech will be a medium for the expression of the thoughts and feelings of the students of MIT. It will be a journal of the past, present, and future, and it is our duty to preserve and perpetuate that spirit and that tradition.

In conclusion, the Tech is a journal of the past, present, and future, and it is our duty to preserve and perpetuate that spirit and that tradition. It is a medium for the expression of the thoughts and feelings of the students of MIT. It is a journal of the past, present, and future, and it is our duty to preserve and perpetuate that spirit and that tradition.