A WELCOME ADDITION

O'NEILL more with the opening of the new school year comes our hand of welcome to Technology the men who come from other institutions to finish their education here.

They come from all parts of this country from the four quarters of the globe, attracted by the name of the school, and come here for the most part as strangers to Technology life and Technology traditions, but as all others coming to strange parishes they have made as easy and as happy a transition as they thought the necessary readjustments would be made as easily and as happily as possible.

The transferring and graduates represent Technology's valuable asset, while the recipients of the benefits, men and women of all ages, who have been known to us all through our association with the school.

The Editors do not offer to the readers all the advantages of their educational service and a school life that is to its individuality and traditions per
