HARRIERS JOURNEY TO PRINCETON FOR CRUCIAL CONTEST

Engineers Meet Formidable Tiger Team in Dual Run

FIRST RACE OF SEASON
FOR ORANGE AND BLACK

Clash to Be Over Course
Much Like Franklin
Park Route

Captain Bob Hendrie left last night with his team of Varsity harriers bound for Princeton to meet the Tiger distance men over the latter's five and a quarter mile course tomorrow afternoon. The contest will be the first of the season for the Orange and Black while Technology's cross country stars are fresh from their victories over Cornell, Harvard, and Dartmouth. Princeton was second in the intercollegiate last year, however, scoring a decisive victory over the Engineers on that occasion. Tomorrow will give Bob Hendrie's outfit an opportunity to get revenge but it will take every bit of power in the Institute team's makeup to win. The abilities of the Cardinal and Gray runners have been proved already. The Tigers are the dark horses with the laurels of last year's victories behind them. It looks like anybody's race with the first honors going to the team with the best staying power at the finish.

Only Seven Men Take Trip

The agreement with the Princeton management calls for a seven man team to start with the first five of each aggregation counting in the score. This is contrary to Coach Kanaly's preference in the matter as he is in favor of running and scoring larger teams. Such conditions he regards as a fairer test of the institution competing than the five men scores which may be controlled by two or three stars alone, and largely through his efforts ten man squads were run in the first two races in which the Institute harriers took part. However the terms on which the Cardinal and Gray will compete tomorrow are the ones still recognized in most quarters as customary for cross country races and will be met with in the intercollegiate also.

Contest a Crucial Test

The Engineers' recent victories have made them a team to be reckoned with in the I. C. A. A. A. championships but it will take a decisive win over Princeton to put them really in the contender class. Princeton always has been represented by a

Mike Hoar Figures Nap Is too Slow

"My time trials were 28 seconds for 220 yards. Go tell that to Boutelier and say for me that it's a darn sight better than any of his old 'dogs or cops' ever did. Where do you get that stuff—saying he was worrying me? Why man, I never slept better in my life than I have these last few nights. You know it's doing me good to get out and do a little training, and if Boutelier figured he could worry me, well, his figuring was all wrong."

Mike Hoar Was Wrathful

"Perhaps if he took one of these courses in calculus he'd be able to make his calculations better—but at that there ain't a slide rule made can figure out what he did—that he could beat Mike. Believe me, he can't integrate under my curves and find a doggoned thing but a beating for him. "Look at these figures—28 seconds. Tell him that and ask him how much he can do it in. Just because he can fight isn't any sign he can run. Fact is, I've known lots of fighters in my day and about all the running they

GOAL REACHED ON DRIVE'S LAST DAY

$2190 Contributed in Annual Campaign of Christian Association

TEA DANCE BRINGS $100

With but a few more hours to go, the Technology Christian Association's campaign quota of $2000 was reached and passed, the total amount of $2190.60 being contributed as the result of an intensive drive of a week's duration among the student body and in the Dormitories and fraternity houses.

Of the total amount, $1726.35 was contributed in cash and the balance has been pledged to be paid at some future date. The help of organizations unconnected with the Association made possible a much more complete canvass, the Speakers' Club alone accounting for $350. The use of envelopes in which the contributions were placed is new, and this method enabled the campaign office to send receipts to the contributors.

The Benefit Tea Dance helped materially with a return of $100.

FIELD DAY ATHLETES DINE TOMORROW NIGHT

Traditional Passing of Cup Will Be Observed at Banquet

North hall, Walker Memorial, will be the scene tomorrow night at 6 o'clock of the annual dinner in honor of the Field Day competitors. All members of the Field Day teams and Field Day officials are invited.

The Field Day cup will be presented by Dr. J. A. Rockwell, chairman of the Advisory Council on Athletics. According to the long established custom, the cup will be passed around the table. Each man, as he grasps the cup, will give his name, class, and home town, and then will take his drink of the sparkling cider.

After the banquet there will be a

TWO LOWER CLASSES PARADE TO TECH FIELD

Sophomores to Form Along
River Bank and Freshmen
in Lowell Court

Immediately after the Field Day crew races this afternoon, the Sophomores and freshmen will form parades and march to the stands on Tech Field. Sophomores are to form at the Cambridge end of Harvard bridge, and freshmen in Lowell Court. Organization of the parades will be in charge of the Field Day marshals.

In order that there may be the least possible confusion and delay in starting for the field, all Sophomores and freshmen should report at the designated places as soon as possible after the races are over.

Juniors and Seniors will be admitted to the stands immediately after the crew races. No Sophomores or freshmen will be permitted to enter the seats except with their class parades. Student tax cards will be required for admission. Extra tickets may be obtained in the lobby today until 12 o'clock for $1.00.

There will be signs in front of the stands indicating the sections reserved for each class. The southern part of the south stand and all of the temporary stand is reserved for freshmen. Juniors will sit in the other part of the south stand. The northern half of the north stand is reserved for Seniors and Sophomores will sit in the portable stands to the north.

TWO TRACK MEETINGS CALLED FOR MONDAY

Coach Frank Kanaly and Capt.
A. D. Smith Will Talk
to Candidates

Two important meetings for all those at the Institute who are interested in track athletics in general, but particularly for all men who expect to become candidates for either the winter or spring teams, will be held in room 10-250 at 4 and 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. Coach Kanaly and Captain A. D. Smith of the Varsity track team will speak and outline the plans and training course for the coming season. With bad weather which will drive the runners from the cinders onto the board track in back of Tech Field expected soon now it is important that the working schedule in preparation for the winter meets be given to the men at once.

Today's Events Briefly Told

Today is Technology's Annual Field Day.

The exercises of the Institute will be suspended at 12 o'clock. At 12:30 o'clock the freshman and Sophomore second crews will race. This contest does not count in the Field Day score.

The Sophomore and freshman first crews will leave Cottage Farm Bridge at 1:30 o'clock and cross the finish line in front of Walker Memorial about five minutes later. The eights may be distinguished by their colors, the Sophomores red and the freshmen gray. The winner scores three points.

Immediately after the finish 1925 and 1926 will parade back to Tech Field. The management states student tax cards will be required. Admission is free.

The first pull of the tug of war will then be held, on Tech Field, in front of the stands.

Following the first tug of war trial will be the first half of the football game. The freshmen are reported to have at least an even chance in the event.

Between halves the tug of war teams will go at each other again. The relay teams, of twelve runners, each going 220 yards, are then to race. It is believed that the Sophomores have the advantage. The winning team scores three points.

The second half of the football game is the next thing in order. The victorious eleven counts five points.

If a third pull in the tug of war contest is necessary it will be staged after the second half. The winners secure two points.

The successful class will then organize a snake dance and victory parade.

At 8 o'clock the curtain rises at the Shubert theatre for the Tech Night performance of "The Rose of Stamboul."

CREW RACE OPENS INTERCLASS STRUGGLE; CONQUERORS' SNAKE DANCE CLOSSES EVENTFUL DAY

When the freshman and Sophomore crews sweep down the river this afternoon the annual classic of Field Day begins with the two lower classes contesting on the Charles, the gridiron, the track, and by tug of war, whether 1925 or 1926 shall be engraved on the Field Day cup. The 1925 men are determined to retrieve last year's defeat, and make the most of their final attempt to stamp the class numerals on the coveted trophy. The freshmen are well organized, and they are fired with a spirit that will make them a tough barrier on the 1925 course to victory. A slight edge on football's decisive five points is given to the 1926 warriors on their showing in the Tufts game. The crew race is a toss up and its three points are expected to hang in the balance until the last stroke. If anybody has an advantage in the chase for relay's three counters it is the Sophomores, while the tug of war teams seem even enough to split its double score between them.

Record Makes Freshman Eleven Slight Favorite

Primed by three weeks of intensive training topped off by a light signal practice yesterday afternoon, the football warriors of the two lower classes are going into the fray this afternoon each with a good deal of confidence and with a big determination to add that all-important 5 points to the Field Day total of his own class. The close of the season finds at least two elevens from each class in top-notch condition, and to say the least, whoever annexes those tallies this afternoon is going to realize that a great battle has been fought.

Frosh Record Best

From the first blow of the referee's whistle this afternoon, every man is going to be a fighter. The frosh seem to have the long end in football this year, if their victory over the Tufts' 1926, who were too much for the Sophs to conquer, can be taken as an indicator. However, followers of Field Day football well realize that indications mean little on the big day. A show of spirit that does not come to the surface at any other time is always in evidence, and breaks may win or lose the game for either team.

Both Classes Confident

Both coaching staffs are confident of the ability of their respective men, and are expecting to amaze the stands with some fast and tricky football. Walt Metcalf's team of Sophs are expected to produce some trick stuff if given a chance. Secret signal drill was run off on the baseball diamond in the middle of the field last night; details of which could not be obtained, for Doc Randolph mistook the reporter for a sleuth sent out to see how many signals the Sophs could remember, and ordered the field cleared of spectators. Both of the men thus ordered off were, however, allowed to talk with the players later in the day, so it is presumed that all will be known eventually.

Ed Johnston, who is captain and quarter of the Soph eleven has been doing consistently good work this year, and has the greater part of last year's team to fall back on. Phil Carrier is a backfield man who is bound to give some trouble to the frosh, and some pretty work is expected when his backfield mates meet the frosh line.

1926 Backs Powerful

The entire frosh backfield has come in for a good deal of commendation this year, but it is the line which has been the most noticeable; it attacks every time with a snap that has seldom been found in freshman lines. When displayed as in the two games already played on the home grid, a few tries are enough to convince any quarter-back that very little ground can be made by line bucking. With this in mind, it seems probable that the Sophs game today must lie in open playing. The freshman backfield, with Charley Bianchi at quarter, is a hard attacking combination, and should account for a good deal of ground.

Sophs Rely on Passing

In the Soph backfield in addition to Carrier and Johnston, Tom Price is another husky who can be counted on to travel fast, and Ed Eager, Daisy Lumb, and Hayes are sure to get in some good work. Considering the weight of the frosh line the 1925 ends are also likely to come in for their share of work, for passes are expected to count heavily.

Close Finish Expected by Contesting Oarsmen

Both the 1925 and 1926 first crews are all set for the annual Field Day contest on the Charles which comes off at 1:30 o'clock today and both are going to win and corral the three points, that is, if what they say is true. The second crews seem to feel about the same regarding their brush over the same course at noon today, and after the rests and light workouts on yesterday's schedule every man of the four crews should be in the best of shape.
