Captain Ferreyra to Head Veteran Engineer Fencers

With six experienced candidates doing well work with the foils and sabers, the fencing course was in full swing at the beginning of the spring semester. Among the candidates were many who had been practicing for several years and were considered good fencers.

Fencing is a sport that requires both physical and mental strength, and the candidates were giving their all to improve their skills.

English Professor Aids in Proof of Technology's Claim to Wisdom

It was within the memory of the oldest Institute undergraduate that a great and influential English teacher and historian had a winning combination. Captain George Ferreyra, who was the English open section champion last spring, and the captain of the fencing team, was among those whose names were mentioned by the professor of wisdom.

The professor had done much to establish the importance of the English and History departments, and the candidates were grateful for his efforts.

Ah, when I think of those gray buildings...

We'd like very much to know what happens to those slackers, as typified by those who are out on the track working—men are slackers and won't come out in the limelight. But that's not the way the fellows feel about themselves.

Technical themes—are more easily grasped and understood when presented in clear, clean-cut type. Type-collated papers of all kinds are neater, more compact and more legible.

The completeness of the Underwood Portable, its speed and durability, and Special Tech and Chemical Engineering keyboards make it the favorite of engineering students everywhere.

Weights 9 3/4 lbs. priced $80
