The basketball squad went through a hard practice session under the direction of Coach Cook Saturday afternoon, and Manager Byrley took charge of the cadets. After working on the fundamentals for some time, Manager Byrley called a practice Captain Cook divided the men into two teams and played the men against each other to see how far the players had gained in individual practice in the last session. The work at this time was not as fast as the men could handle it, but when the players realized that working on the fundamentals is the way to get the most out of a team, more progress will be made. Practice was continued until the players were pressed to the limit. TheoppONENTS

Coaches Byrley and Cook have a number of men who have been working on their fundamentals so that the men can play a fast game. The men were not as good as they could have been had a different style of game been followed now in colleges for it makes the freshman teams a training ground for the teams. They have a number of men who have positions on the varsity next year. It be given the same style of play as the men have been following this year, the entire time can be devoted to practice.
