Destiny is written in blood, scarred and bruised,

It is the end, the end of the line, the end of the trail, the end of the run.

And the day comes when destiny can no longer hide.

The day of reckoning. The day of judgement.

The day when every action, every decision, every word is weighed, measured, and evaluated.

The day when the final scores are tallied, and the victors are crowned.

The day when destiny is revealed, and the true nature of every individual is exposed.

The day when the future is decided, and the paths of life are forever altered.

Destiny is written in blood, scarred and bruised,

It is the end, the end of the line, the end of the trail, the end of the run.

And the day comes when destiny can no longer hide.
