

BATEMAN WINS BY 1-5 SEC. QUARTERMILE CANDIDATES TURN IN FAST TIMES IN PRELIMINARY TRIALS FOR MILE INDOOR RELAY

CAPTAIN ART SMITH

GLEN BATEMAN, above, was the fastest of the quartermilers in the first trials run on the board track, Saturday afternoon. His time was very low considering the short time that the runners have been on the wooden oval, and he is sure to be a valuable man to Coach Kanaly in the building of an entirely new team.

Glen Bateman, Sophomore crack sprinter and relay captain, running in perfect form, flashed off the fastest of the 440 yard trials directed by Coach Kanaly on the chilly stretches of the board track last Saturday afternoon. Glen had the narrowest margin recorded by the clock over Captain Art Smith, since the long Engineer leader, racing in the dusk on the freezing dampness of the oval, made the three circuits in just one-fifth of a second more than it took his Australian rival.

Third place went to Ray Holden, who, though quite a way behind the fleet pair who competed for first place, apparently has a strong grip on the third position on the Technology mile indoor relay team. Lawrence Cusolito, a Sophomore, made excellent time for the first two laps, but couldn't quite come up to Holden's sprint on the last round and so took fourth place with a substantial time lead.

Coach Pleased with Fall Training Results

In commenting on the trials, Coach Kanaly said that he was very well satisfied, and remarked that the times compared quite favorably with those turned in by last winter's winning runners in their preliminary trials. Of course these tests are strictly temporary in their effect on the picking of the team, the really important clockings being taken during the final weeks of preparation for the indoor season, which begins late in January. Coach Kanaly thought that the conditions were good for creditable showings, since there was very little wind and plenty of frigidly to keep the runners moving. However, the heavy humidity took the snap out of the atmosphere and may have hampered the athletics a bit.

Bateman ran his trial in the middle of the afternoon, and the coach remarked several times during his performance on the perfect form which Glen has built up and the absolute lack of lost motion in his rounding the corners. In fact it seems that Bateman owes his narrow margin of superiority over Captain Smith to his technique on the bends. On the cinder quarter mile route Art can lead the Australian flyer, but on the wooden track they are so close that the rivalry for first position promises lots of excitement in following trials.

Captain Art Smith Runs Trial Late in Afternoon

It was not until late in the afternoon that the Technology captain reported for his timing. The sun had long since left the track and the increasing cold was rapidly turning the pathway into a dangerously slippery route for all those not armed with spikes. Aware of the fact that Captain Smith would be doing his best to cut under Bateman's low mark, several of the older track men had stayed around to encourage Art and see what luck he had, among them Glen himself. After warming up on the track and then in the house, Art was sent away on his 440 spin by Coach Kanaly's "Go." He tore up to the first turn at top speed and then straightened out on the back stretch, going at his best. His first lap was almost exactly that of Bateman's and after another round he was still hanging to his rival's record. He didn't weaken a bit on the third lap and came gasping to the stretch in great form. Everybody was yelling but above all the noise one heard the "Come on Art" of Bateman. With this pair to start with, Coach Kanaly has a chance to build an entirely new team, which can come mighty close to the victorious four of a year ago.

Simonds Wins Freshman Leadership by 1-5 Sec.

Simonds, a cross country man, was the first of the freshman quartermilers who took the trials, and his time ranked high, even on the list of the afternoon's results which included the doings of the varsity men. Curiously enough the second yearling was just a fifth of a second behind Simonds, so that a somewhat slower replica of the varsity combat was furnished with Manion in Art Smith's role. Greeley took third place on the freshman team, (Continued on Page 6) his time so that he can come regularly and hence every minute of the practices can be utilized. Regular practice at which the men are given a few new pointers at every session is much more valuable than intensive instruction strung over a long period of time, but not given regularly.

The fact that a permanent coach has now been selected is a relief not only to the members of the team, but also to all who are interested in the maintenance of athletic teams which will be a credit to Technology. After the continued difficulty of obtaining a coach, it seemed that basketball was to lose the place it had earned for itself last year among the sports of the Institute, and so it is gratifying that the team is well under way now in charge of a capable coach. Practice will continue throughout this week but probably no sessions will be held during vacation. The first game will be away from home on January 6 at Northeastern.

Colgate Track Captain Ineligible

Arthur Bulger, captain of Colgate University's track team, will be ineligible for athletics there in the future. The graduate manager of athletics said this action was taken as a result of his participation in a football game for which he had received money.
