I应 providence suddenly materialized into a telligent being and condemned me to choose between the woman's or the woman's sphere. The same may be said of the carpenter, mason, and the stonemason. Most of the villagers live upon the fruit of the soil, so that they handle but little currency. When they want their smoke raps they give the cobler some beans or eggs, or whatever they raise on their land. Debits of any kind are usually paid by so many "days" of labor. Thus they live in a sort of subsistence community where each man is his own king and where the atmosphere, being one of simple life, is beneficial both to the individual and to the village.

The father lives and works at home with his wife and children. Or if his labor takes him to the fields, even there his home seems to follow him. At a certain hour, in the forenoon, his wife and children will come to him with a basket of plain, white-meal bread, and a large jug of milk and wine. And thereon the fresh, open air, beside a cool brook, with the children gathered around him, he will spend the rest of the day. It is a life that is sure to do him good, for a man who has the happiness of being able to lead such a life is sure to enjoy it.

The children play these pretty games that thrill us after long years have passed.

This conclusion I left ten years ago, to begin life in the United States. Here I have passed four years in a manufacturing plant that normally employs about 15,000 hands. So that naturally I am in a position to compare the ancient and modern workshops.

The most interesting of modern life are the workshops that tell the men to commence and quit work. So demanding is their influence, that they have been known to make men lose heart and bear down upon them the strain of their labor, while it has been known to defend them against their villages, and have used them in a systematic manner to undermine the confidence of their families.

But what is the use of telling the men to work for in the end they will not be allowed to do so.

The safest thing to do is to get a job in a shop where the men can work just as they please, and where the management is willing to let them

The program for the concerts on the first three Tuesdays of the month will be:

9. Elgar String Quartet
10. Serenade
11. Hymn Selection
12. Popular Selections
13. Stein Song

The last two concerts will be held at the Boston Y. INT.

The program for the concerts on the first
three Tuesdays of the month will be:

9. Elgar String Quartet
10. Serenade
11. Hymn Selection
12. Popular Selections
13. Stein Song

The last two concerts will be held at the Boston Y. INT.