Old man weather has had a special attraction for the track men this year. The last week in February, the practice session was held, on Thursday, at Frog Hill, because the weather was so bad. Rain was the only problem, and the practice was cut down to two weeks away. Coach Kandy is hoping to get in all the work he can, so the weather will have to take a back seat.

Coach Kandy's job is to make the team the best it can possibly be. He is not just a coach, but a mentor who guides and supports his athletes. He has been with the team for many years, and his knowledge and experience are invaluable. He understands the needs of his athletes and is always willing to help them achieve their goals. Coach Kandy's passion for the sport is contagious, and his dedication to his team is evident in everything he does. He is respected by his players and loved by his fans.

In addition to his coaching duties, Coach Kandy is also involved in various community activities. He is a member of the local track and field association and helps to organize and support community events. His commitment to the sport and his community is admirable, and he is a role model for his athletes and fans alike.
