INTER-SECTION DEBATES HELD BY SOPHOMORES

Second Year Men in English Secutious Challenge each Other

The elimination of the preliminary was the subject for a debate last night between the English and Math. Societies. The affirmative, representing the English, was presided over by Mr. M. S. and the negative by Mr. W. V. J. Stinson, the latter being moderate in his attacks on the affirmative, and defending his view that one should become an English major before taking a course in any other field of study.
