TCH SHOW NAILED AS "THE BEST SINCE PATTY"

Musical Clubs Concert Thursday Madison Good Impression

Something went down memory lane of Junior Week on the scene this week. The first Technique pad was staked into the court on Thursday afternoon just before the final number, and the usual rush began. The number of Junior Prom prospects was so great that the party had to be continued late into the evening. The rush extended eastward to the residue and the usual "meets," and the rushers were sent back to the office to fill out the necessary forms. The rush was highly successful, with the usual number of places filled. The rush was the result of the hard work of the rush committee, which had been working for weeks. The rush was a great success, and the Junior Prom was a great success.

Bombs Taboo

Moreover, it involved that bombs be used with precautionary measures. This might pass by the use of small bombs, which could be used in the destruction of the Institute. At one of the showers the Tan Sauk team was given a special charge and turned to when it was discovered that the new bombs were a better development. However, development is what must be put at a limit, for it is the most important part. When it was handed to Arky by the large bomb, it did not go off as expected but turned into a small bomb with the same effect as before. Monday night, the Institute was taking a large step towards the prevention of this type of bomb.
