G. W. Hall, Jr., Replaces C. C. Taylor on Elections Committee

In the referendum held yesterday by the Class of 1924, the Juniors decided that the elections will be open. Out of 300 votes cast, 185 were "Yes" and 115 were "No." The referendum was held at which time next year's seniors Class will be chosen.

The candidates in the new election will be the same as in the first, since no one was found with the required amount of business experience. The elections will be held next Tuesday, and it has been agreed that in order to have the place and hours of voting will be announced in the next issue of the Tech.

By C. Taylor resigns

The resignation of Mr. C. Taylor for the Institute Committee yesterday was anticipated. At the time the resignation was made it was learned that Mr. Taylor, who has been active in the work of the Institute Committee, was not to be present at the meeting of the Institute Committee yesterday afternoon. The resignation of a member of the Institute Committee is a serious matter, as it is difficult to get a substitute for him. However, he gave a reason after the resignation was announced, which was in order to have the complete business of the committee.
