Next fall the present Sophomore Class will have the duty and responsibility of organizing the incoming freshman class. As it is not too early to call attention to the fact that certain preparations for this purpose should be made, we wish to point out that this time will be lost during the early part of the fall term.

The Club of 1925 has the responsibility of organizing the incoming freshman class, except perhaps to aid in Field Day. There have been practically no social events held thus far during the year, and now the freshman banquet has been put off until the fall because of liability to obtain the desired operands. It is perfectly evident not only that the freshman class has been inefficiently organized, but also that the general scheme employed by Junior classes to organize incoming freshman classes is inefficient. By now the organization has been completed it is usually too late to accomplish anything.

It is of primary importance that the Junior class should not be seen after the beginning of the fall term at possible, chiefly in order that the freshman class may have better change of winning.

In the way of constructive criticism, it has been suggested that one Junior be appointed to take charge of the section of the Freshman that the juniors may be kept in line for the interesting of itself and of the birth of a class spirit in every member of his section. Meetings of the class might be held once a week or other.

After two weeks, the men have grown to know each other, and it is desirable that the section leaders, who should work in conjunction with their adjacent leaders, should be named. Moreover, the Juniors in charge should convene frequently as to interlink the several sections.

The plan outlined above is only a suggestion. The Class of 1925, however, must realize that it will be responsible for the successful organization of the next Freshman class. Upon the men of whom the Class of 1925 are now Sophomore will rest the task of assimilating the few who have already become part of the Freshman class. This assimilation must be continued during the early part of the Freshman class, and the Juniors in charge should convene frequently as to interlink the several sections.

The plan outlined above is only a suggestion. The Class of 1925, however, must realize that it will be responsible for the successful organization of the next Freshman class. Upon the men of whom the Class of 1925 are now Sophomore will rest the task of assimilating the few who have already become part of the Freshman class. This assimilation must be continued during the early part of the Freshman class, and the Juniors in charge should convene frequently as to interlink the several sections.

SPIRIT GREATER THAN DEFEAT

Technology lost its title to the New England Intercollegiate, which was held by the University of Minnesota. Upon the men of whom the Class of 1925 are now Sophomore will rest the task of assimilating the few who have already become part of the Freshman class. This assimilation must be continued during the early part of the Freshman class, and the Juniors in charge should convene frequently as to interlink the several sections.

REJECTING A LOSS

It was with more than a feeling of deep sorrow, rather with one of thanksgiving that we learned of the passing of Richard M. Honiberg. He was a man of clear judgment, varied interests and many friends. His career, which looked so promising, must remain forever unfulfilled. As one who worked willingly in undergraduate activities and on the faculty, we, his friends and fellow students, deeply mourn his death.

COMMUNICATIONS

Letters over 200 words may be Excluded Due to Space

The following communication has been received from the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

To the Editor of The Tech:

On behalf of the officers and the members of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, we are honored to announce that the Copley Hotel, our thoroughly appreciated and popular hotel, will be the site of the 1937 Convention of the American Economic Association for its annual meeting. The Copley Hotel, our firm, friendly, and elegant hotel, is ideally situated and well equipped for the needs of the Association.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology welcomes you to the annual meeting of the American Economic Association to be held at the Copley Hotel, Monday, May 21, 1923.

The plan outlined above is only a suggestion. The Class of 1925, however, must realize that it will be responsible for the successful organization of the next Freshman class. Upon the men of whom the Class of 1925 are now Sophomore will rest the task of assimilating the few who have already become part of the Freshman class. This assimilation must be continued during the early part of the Freshman class, and the Juniors in charge should convene frequently as to interlink the several sections.

SPIRIT GREATER THAN DEFEAT

Technology lost its title to the New England Intercollegiate, which was held by the University of Minnesota. Upon the men of whom the Class of 1925 are now Sophomore will rest the task of assimilating the few who have already become part of the Freshman class. This assimilation must be continued during the early part of the Freshman class, and the Juniors in charge should convene frequently as to interlink the several sections.

REJECTING A LOSS

It was with more than a feeling of deep sorrow, rather with one of thanksgiving that we learned of the passing of Richard M. Honiberg. He was a man of clear judgment, varied interests and many friends. His career, which looked so promising, must remain forever unfulfilled. As one who worked willingly in undergraduate activities and on the faculty, we, his friends and fellow students, deeply mourn his death.

COMMUNICATIONS

Letters over 200 words may be Excluded Due to Space

The following communication has been received from the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

To the Editor of The Tech:

On behalf of the officers and the members of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, we are honored to announce that the Copley Hotel, our firm, friendly, and elegant hotel, is ideally situated and well equipped for the needs of the Association.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology welcomes you to the annual meeting of the American Economic Association to be held at the Copley Hotel, Monday, May 21, 1923.